Ohio Schools Are Having Problems

CINCINNATI (AP) — As Toledo's schools face another closing and unpaid Cleveland teachers boycott, a lawsuit continues here today that could shut schoolhouses throughout Ohio while the state wrestles with school money problems.

Final arguments were scheduled in the year-long trial on the constitutionality of Ohio's method of school financing which the Cincinnati school board says discriminates against urban districts.

If the judge grants an injunction sought by the 60,400-student Cincinnati school district to stop state funding, lawyers say most school districts in Ohio could face closings and the Ohio legislature would have to consider alternate financing methods.

Meanwhile, attorneys for the Toledo school board planned to ask the Ohio Supreme Court today if the Nov. 8 ballot contained legally faulty wording on a property tax increase proposal for school funding.

Toledo schools were closed seven days this year for lack of money before voters approved a 6.1-mill tax increase that provided emergency funds to reopen the 55,000-pupil district. If there was legally incorrect wording, schools could close again.

And in Cleveland, U.S. District Judge Frank J. Battisti has set a hearing Wednesday on a legal tangle that has forced the Cleveland schools to keep operating although there is no money to pay teachers.

The unpaid Cleveland teachers were continuing a classroom boycott that has thrown the 113,000-pupil system into turmoil.

The Cincinnati lawsuit contends the state's year-old school financing system discriminates against urban districts and results in wide differences in the amount of money schools are able to spend per pupil.

The formula makes state funds contingent upon the ability of local districts to pass levies.

The Cincinnati board maintains there is a gross disparity in per-pupil funding among the state's school systems because of varying local tax bases and the willingness or unwillingness of property owners to approve tax levies.

Visiting Judge Paul Riley of Clinton County indicated he may decide later this month on the injunction request.

In Toledo, the school board also faces a Common Pleas Court restraining order that prohibits 1977 tax revenues from being spent on daily operations until $9 million in outstanding bank notes are paid. Four Toledo banks obtained the order Friday.

With the order threatening to delay their paychecks, Toledo teachers were considering today whether to boycott their classrooms.

The Cleveland federal judge was ordered Friday by the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals to hold the Wednesday hearing. Two Cleveland banks had challenged the federal judge's authority to order the school board to keep schools open rather than repay $15 million in bank debts.

Battisti said his power stems from the Cleveland school desegregation case, which is under his jurisdiction.

The state supreme court ordered the Cleveland schools to abide by a state law that requires the debt repayment, which left the board under conflicting court orders. The Cleveland teachers have not been paid since Nov. 11 while the matter is being resolved.

Wide Variety In Ohio Weather

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A wide variety of weather covered Ohio today — most of it very unpleasant.

A heavy snow warning was in effect in northwestern Ohio, travelers advisories were up early today in the northeast and central counties and southeastern Ohio was under a severe thunderstorm watch and a flash flood watch.

Freezing rain fell this morning over parts of northeastern and central Ohio while snow was falling over northwestern parts of the state. Farther south, thunderstorms were moving across the southern counties.

An intensifying low pressure system centered over western Kentucky was forecast to move northeastward across Ohio today. Meanwhile, a band of heavy snow was developing through northern Indiana, extreme northwestern Ohio and southern Michigan. Snow accumulations of three to six inches were likely today in northwestern Ohio with heavier amounts in southern Michigan.

The freezing rain and snow were to change to rain over central and northeastern Ohio as the low moved northeastward.

Arab 'Front' Takes Sanctions Against Egypt

TRIPOLI, Libya (AP) — Five Arab opponents of Egyptian peace overtures to Israel formed a "confrontation front" against President Anwar Sadat today and announced diplomatic and token economic sanctions against him.

Iraq walked out of the Tripoli summit meeting, undermining the united front Sadat's foes hoped to achieve and demonstrating once again the chronic dissension in the Arab world.

Sadat said the Arab campaign against him caused him no concern. He also told two interviewers in Cairo Sunday that the Soviet Union was behind the "rubbish" at the Tripoli meeting.

The leaders of Syria, Libya, Algeria, South Yemen and the Palestinian guerrilla movement agreed in a final communique to "freeze" diplomatic relations with Egypt.

They also called for a boycott of Egyptian companies trading with Israel, of which there are none; demanded that the headquarters of the 21-member Arab League be removed from Cairo, and appealed for support for Syria, the chief remaining military threat to Israel.

The meeting also resulted in a reconciliation among Palestinian guerrilla groups and a hardening of Palestinian opposition to peace negotiations with Israel.

Iraq delegates left the Libyan Peoples' Palace Sunday after four days of wrangling behind closed doors. The walkout underlined a long-standing rift between Iraq and Syria, ruled by rival wings of the Baath Socialist party that are split over tactics toward Israel, Syria's intervention in Lebanon and its diversion of the waters of the Euphrates River.

The Iraqis have sent out invitations to an anti-Sadat meeting of their own in Baghdad next week, and it was believed they refused to join the Tripoli front because it is likely to be led by Syrian President Hafez Assad.

"The Iraqis came to make sabotage," said a spokesman for the Saika Palestinian guerrillas, who are controlled by Syria. He accused the Iraqis of being "pro-Sadat."

A Palestinian official said Iraq first demanded that the meeting reject U.N. Security Council resolutions 242 and 338, the basis of most Arab-Israeli peace efforts since the 1967 war.

Syrian opposition blocked this. The Iraqis then demanded that the group declare its intention of creating an anti-Sadat front but leave the actual formation to the proposed Baghdad meeting.

In what Palestinian officials said was a slap at Iraq, the Palestine Liberation Organization issued a statement proclaiming its "total condemnation of any party to the Tripoli Summit that rejects formation of the front."

The PLO declaration also ruled out Palestinian attendance at the Geneva peace conference Sadat and President Carter want to convene. It said the new Arab alliance should "confront all surrender solutions and imperialism and Zionism, as well as their tools in the Arab world," the latter an apparent reference to Sadat.

UMW Ready To Call Strike At Midnight

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United Mine Workers union is ready to call its 10th strike in 40 years at midnight, even as negotiators continued meeting into the final hours of the current contract.

Representatives of the union and Bituminous Coal Operators Association met across the table for several hours Sunday before recessing the talks until morning.

There appeared no hope a strike could be averted.

At mines in Ohio and West Virginia, more than 2,200 miners were reported off the job late last week. More absenteeism was likely today, the final work day of the expiring contract.

"We've got some hard problems. We're working on them. That's the nature of this process," said chief federal mediator Wayne L. Horvitz at the end of Sunday's bargaining.

Union President Arnold Miller, who returned to the talks Sunday after a two-day absence, said, "If we'd reached any agreement today I would have told you."

Operators President Joseph P. Brennan, asked whether there had been an agreement on any substantial issues, said, "You don't reach agreement on substantial issues until you tie it all up."

Any strike by the UMW's 130,000 miners could be expected to last at least 10 days because the union's ratification process takes that long. "I said last week that if we went out it looked like it might be a long one," Miller said Sunday.

The last union strike, in 1974, lasted 42 days. The longest, in 1946, ran 59 days. Since 1937 there have been nine strikes in the 19 contract negotiations involving the UMW, a union with a tradition of "no-contract, no-work."

Sources say the coal companies are prepared to accept a work stoppage of at least one month. Coal's best customers have laid in stockpiles they say could last up to 90 days.

Chess Player's Wife Must Stay In Russia

LENINGRAD, U.S.S.R. (AP) — The wife of chess grandmaster Viktor Korchnoi, who defected to the West 17 months ago, says Soviet authorities have refused permission for her and her son to emigrate.

Mrs. Korchnoi said in an interview here that she now fears their 19-year-old son will be drafted into the armed forces, which would delay any possible emigration by at least seven years.

GRAFFITI

FREEDOM IS NOT FREE -- IT IS PRICELESS

UMW miners, working mostly in Appalachia, produce about half the nation's coal, down from 70 percent in 1974.

All sides said bargainers began serious discussions over the weekend on "substantial issues."

These include the union's demand for a right to strike at individual mines and for refinancing of the depleted health and pension funds. Coal companies, hit in recent years by wildcat strikes, are proposing penalties for miners who join in illegal walkouts and incentives for increased production.

Miller also said the union is seeking an increase in the miners' wages of more than $60 a day. But pay has not surfaced as a public issue in the talks.

Trooper Awarded At Post

DEAN A. HARRISON

Ohio State Highway Patrol Trooper Dean A. Harrison has been selected 1977 Trooper of the Year at the Circleville Post.

The award was presented to Trooper Harrison, 28, in recognition of outstanding service during 1977 at the Circleville Post. Selected by fellow officers stationed at the post, the decision to choose Harrison was based on leadership abilities, professional ethics, courteous treatment of others, enthusiastic work attitude, and cooperation with supervisors, peers and the public.

He is now in contention for the District and State Trooper of the Year Awards to be announced at a later date.

Harrison joined the patrol in 1973 and has served at the Circleville Post since that time. Originally from Mount Sterling and graduated from the Plains High School, Trooper Harrison attended Ohio State University and is presently enrolled at Ohio University in the Criminal Justice program.

Other Patrol Awards he has received in the past include: Three Year Safe Driving Award and the Superintendent's Certificate of Recognition for Auto Larceny Apprehensions.

Trooper Harrison and his wife Sue live near Mount Sterling with their children 8-year-old Troy and 6-year-old Lori.

OSHA To Dump 1,000 Rules

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Labor Department made good today on its promise to rid employers and workers of nitpicking, outdated and just plain silly job safety rules by proposing to dump more than 1,100 regulations.

No longer must toilet seats in businesses be of the open-front type. No more must fire extinguishers be no higher off the floor than 3½ feet in some cases, 5 feet in others.

Labor Secretary Ray Marshall noted that thousands of injuries and illnesses are suffered by workers each year, but "to the best of our knowledge none has been caused by the shape of a toilet seat or because a fire extinguisher was two inches too low."

The proposed new rules were made public with no little pride by the department's Occupational Safety and Health Administration, a much-maligned agency in the past.

"Today's announcement marks one of the few times in history a government regulatory agency has decreased its rules rather than adding more," said Eula Bingham, head of OSHA.

Dr. Bingham had vowed last May to cut "the Mickey Mouse" out of OSHA's muchcriticized rules. Her office estimates that 62 million workers and 5 million employers are covered by the regulations.

The new version will eliminate a prohibition against putting ice in drinking water — a rule that goes back to 1930, when ice often came from ponds with unpotable water. It will also do away with specifying the gauge of sheet metal in ductwork required for ventilation purposes.

Many of the rules being eliminated are duplicated by those of other agencies. Others are obsolete through technological change. And others simply insult intelligence.

"Tanks may be of any shape or type consistent with sound engineering design," says one provision that will be out.

One requirement dealing with areas containing hazardous chemicals forced employers to keep a daily roster of employees entering regulated areas and to hold on to the lists for 20 years. The rule won't be in the new version.

Weather

Travelers warnings in effect today with rain or thundershowers changing to freezing rain or snow by afternoon with a high in the middle 40s. Snow and much colder tonight with a low near 20. Snow flurries and continued cold Tuesday with temperatures near 30. Chances of precipitation, 100 percent today, 70 percent tonight and 50 percent Tuesday. Saturday's high was 44 with a low of 27 and the high Sunday was 40 with a low of 33.

A special edition of the Federal Register will completely reprint all 250 pages of closely spaced, small type that detail OSHA's general industry standards. Provisions to be revoked will be in black brackets.

Dr. Bingham said that because of the high interest expected, the usual 30-day period for public comment will be expanded to 90 days.

Malaysian Airliner Crash Investigated

JOHORE BHARU, Malaysia (AP) — Investigators are trying to determine whether the hijackers of a Malaysian airliner caused the crash in which all 100 persons aboard died and whether the hijackers were Japanese terrorists.

One witness to the crash Sunday night said the twin-jet Boeing 737 wobbled unsteadily, rose slightly, then started down and exploded. Wreckage, dismembered bodies, clothing and debris were scattered over a square mile of swamp north of the Johore Strait and Singapore.

The Malay Mail newspaper said the eyewitness reports "indicated some kind of tussle between the hijackers and the crew."

"The explosion may have been caused by explosives carried on board by the hijackers, considering the wide area over which the wreckage was strewn," the paper said.

Among the dead were the Cuban ambassador to Malaysia, Mario Garcia, and his wife; two World Bank officials from Washington, O.D. Hoerr and S.S. Naime, and Malaysia's agriculture minister, Ali Haji Ahmad.

Malaysian Airways said about 20 of the 93 passengers were foreigners.

Sources at the Kuala Lumpur airport said the pilot radioed that members of the Japanese Red Army took over the plane. But the airline said it could not confirm this and did not know how many hijackers there were.

They took over the plane about 10 minutes after it left Penang island, off the northwest coast of Malaysia, on a flight to Kuala Lumpur, the Malaysian capital, and Singapore with 93 passengers and a crew of seven, an airline spokesman said.

The plane stopped at Kuala Lumpur, but the hijackers forced the pilot to take off almost immediately for Singapore, the spokesman reported. The explosion occurred shortly after.

Police said they were investigating to determine how the hijackers got on the plane undetected. Communications Minister V. Manickavasagam said security at all Malaysian airports would be tightened.

The Japanese Red Army is a small organization of extreme left-wingers who have been responsible for a number of a major terrorist incidents since 1970.

Its most recent exploit was the hijacking of a Japan Air Lines jet over India in September. The Japanese have been told to wink at most, but not all, violations of the rules that are slated to be discarded. The government term for this is "de minimis" enforcement.

"Revocation is a lengthy process," said Dr. Bingham. "We are concerned with taking action now to implement our common sense approach."

government paid $6 million in ransom and released six terrorists from prison, and the hijackers and the freed terrorists took refuge in Algeria.

Greek Charged With Kidnaping

CLEVELAND (AP) — Nikolaos Midoulas, 19, of Chios, Greece, has been charged with two counts of kidnapping and one count of aggravated robbery in connection with Saturday night's abduction of a Cleveland woman and her baby.

Midoulas was arrested Sunday about three hours after the knife-point abduction of Mrs. Raymond C. Donsant and her 8-month-old son, Carman, outside a Parma Heights supermarket. He allegedly forced his way into Mrs. Donsant's car, held a knife to the baby's throat and forced her to drive away.

Police say she stopped, took the keys and ran from the car at a nearby intersection, hoping the kidnapper would follow. However, he didn't and police, who quickly arrived at the scene, gave him back the keys when he threatened to kill the child.

Within blocks the man became involved in several accidents and ran from the car, leaving the baby unharmed.

Parma Heights police said Midoulas jumped ship in Norfolk, Va., and a deportation hearing was scheduled Dec. 13 before immigration officials in Cleveland.

State School Financing System Unconstitutional

CINCINNATI (AP) — Ohio's troubled school financing system was declared unconstitutional today, but Judge Paul Riley said he would delay implementation of the ruling until July 1, 1978.

"This court is compelled, in view of sheer weight of evidence to find for the plaintiffs on constitutional grounds," Riley said in his Hamilton County Pleas Court decision.

The Cincinnati school district, in his class action suit, had argued that the Ohio Legislature's funding system failed to abide by the Ohio Constitutional requirement to provide a "thorough and efficient education."

John Lloyd Jr., attorney for the schools, said the disparity of state funding to local school districts also violated equal protection clauses of the law.

"Realizing that the state funds are essential to the operation of the districts, I am ordering this decision to take effect July 1, 1978," Riley said at the end of the year-long trial.

The state had contended in earlier arguments today that the court does not have jurisdiction in the case because school funding is the responsibility of the Ohio Legislature.

David Beaver, assistant attorney general, also said that the class action suit by Cincinnati schools has "the wrong defendants. The administrators of the state education department have no control over the law," Beaver said.

Lloyd said the present law "keeps schools in a constant state of calamity. The local districts have no control because of mandates governing procedures and hiring policies and they should be allowed to spend their time determining educational policy and not with scraping up money."

The Cincinnati Board of Education filed suit in 1976 against Martin Essex, then Ohio's superintendent of schools, contending the state financing system discriminates against urban districts and results in wide differences in the amount of money schools are able to spend per pupil.

More than 100 witnesses from all over the state have given testimony that fills more than 8,000 pages of court records.

Lloyd's witnesses contended there was a gross disparity in funding per pupil among the state's school systems. This is caused by varying tax bases and the willingness of property owners to approve tax levies. He attacked the "Equal Yield" formula upon which state funding is based. The formula makes state funds contingent upon the ability of local districts to pass levies.

Lloyd also contended that property taxes were unfair.

Local Girl Is IFYE Nominee

BONNIE BOLENDER

Bonnie Jan Bolender, 21, of 23647 Ringgold Southern Road and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David H. Bolender is one of four International Four-H Youth Exchange nominees selected for the state of Ohio for 1978.

Nominations now go to Washington D.C., and selections of U.S. delegates will be announced in the coming months.

IFYE's are sent to many different countries where they talk about the United States and learn the ways of their host families. Once a IFYE returns, they give many presentations on that host country. This program benefits both countries with the mutual exchange of culture, knowledge, and understanding. The other nominees are Mark Miller from Union County, Lois Foreman from Ottawa County, and Marietta Marvin from Hancock County.

Bonnie is very active in Ohio Staters, Inc., United Way, Davison-Hanley Alumnae Scholarship House, Mortarboard National Senior Honorary, Ag College Chorale, and Alpha Zeta Little Sis Chapter on campus. She is a senior at Ohio State University majoring in microbiology in the College of Arts and Sciences and will graduate in June with a Bachelor of Science degree.

She is also the youth representative-at-large on the State 4-H Advisory Committee. She is in Grange and a member of St. Paul U.M. Church. Bonnie was a ten year member of the 4-H Program in Pickaway County, belonging to the Buttons and Bowls, Washington Hill Climbers, Soil Savers, Good Neighbors, 4-H Band, and Junior Leader Clubs.

Police Investigate Rash Of Criminal Activity

Circleville City Police investigated a rash of criminal activities during the weekend including grand thefts at Pritchard's Restaurant and Keith's Men's Store.

Virginia Pritchard, owner of Pritchard's Restaurant, reported that when she came to work at 4:45 a.m. today she found that someone had opened her cash register. The door from the register along with the cash drawer, some change and some miscellaneous items were on the floor in front of the register.

Pritchard then found that entry had been made by breaking a 6-inch by 10-inch window in the basement door on the west side of the building. After breaking the window the culprit reached inside the door and pried the lock from the door frame.

At 5:59 a.m. Pritchard notified Ptl. Ron Thompson that she had found a screwdriver in a box of jelly on the floor under the far end of the counter. The screwdriver was matched up with pry marks on the register and door frame. They matched.

Two shelves under the cash register were ransacked and some miscellaneous items were dumped out of a brown paper bag.

Pritchard made a count of money left in the cash register and determined that $175.84 had been taken.

Ptl. Don Barton said it appeared that the paper bag was used to put the money in. The incident occurred between 7 p.m. Sunday and 4:45 a.m. today. The Pickaway County Sheriff's Department took eight photographs for the police department.

Susan Reeser, an employee of Keith's Men's Store, reported that a wallet belonging to Victor Curry, 133 Scioto St., Ashville, was stolen after he left his wallet in his pants in the dressing room of the store. The tan wallet contained $300 and a Master Charge card. Ptl. William Fries and Michael Eberhard investigated the incident which occurred at 2 p.m. Saturday. Leads have been established on possible suspects.

Kenneth Welsh, 222 Brinks Drive, told police that 80 Columbus Dispatch newspapers were taken from him Sunday morning from in front of Bingham's. Welsh said that he found the newspapers scattered all the way between Circleville and Ringgold. The newspapers, valued at $32, were stolen between 2 and 9 a.m. Sunday.

Sandra Wright, 148 Pleasant St., said someone removed a boy's black 20-inch Huffy Moto Cross bicycle with yellow plastic fenders from her mother's residence at 422 E. Main St.

Mrs. Kuhn said she saw three people in an older model green Chevrolet pick-up truck with a white camper on the back at the rear of her residence at 10:45 p.m. Saturday. At that time, the bicycle was discovered missing. The bike is valued at $75.

John Williams, 5337 Tarlton Road, said someone stole his CB antenna while his car was parked at Prairie Lanes between 7:30 and 10 p.m. Saturday.

CB antennas were also stolen from vehicles belonging to Daryl Morrison, 344 E. Union St., and Tom Tootle, 354 E. Union St., Friday night. Morrison's antenna is valued at $20 and Tootle's two Twin Hustler antennas are valued at $35.

Eleanor Arledge, 215 S. Pickaway St., told Ptl. Dan Whitehead that a window was broken out of her garage door between 5:30 p.m. Saturday and 5 a.m. Sunday.

John D. Sprouse, 135 Villa Drive, reported that between 7:35 and 7:45 p.m. Saturday someone entered his 1973 Volkswagen and removed an RCA 40-channel CB radio valued at $140.

Dorothy Shadley, sales clerk at Washington Corner Gift Shop, told city police that the store was very busy Saturday afternoon. After most of the customers left she noticed at 3 p.m. that a musical old time gramophone and musical piano were taken. Each item is valued at $10.50.

Steve Helwagen, 605 Edgewood Drive, told Ptl. William Fries that his mailbox was torn down for the third time. The mailbox was later found in the back yard of a Mowrer Road address.

Ptl. Don Barton reported a window was broken in the Litter's LP Gas building, 701 S. Pickaway St., between 3:40 and 3:57 a.m. Saturday. Barton said Ptl. Ron Thompson and Ptl. Whitehead had checked the business a few minutes prior to Barton's patrol and the building had not been disturbed then.

Valerie Russell, 455 1/2 E. Main St. parked her car in the back yard Saturday night. On Sunday, her mother noticed the hood of the car was raised about two inches. They found that the battery cables had been taken off the battery but the battery was not taken.

Ptl. Thomas Tatman investigated an accident at 6:41 p.m. Sunday. According to his report, a vehicle driven by John D. Scio, 25, Columbus, was traveling west on High Street approaching the railroad tracks west of North Western Avenue.

At the intersection of High Street and Western Avenue a car driven by William B. Teets, 65, Route 3, struck the Scio auto.

Teets took a breathalyzer test. Tatman cited Teets for driving a vehicle under the influence of alcohol.

Motorists Hit Utility Poles

Utility poles seemed to be a prime target for drivers over the weekend, as Sheriff's Deputies investigated three accidents that involved them.

The first occurred on Haysville-Adelphi Road, three quarters of a mile east of Kime-Holderman Road. According to the report, Ronnie L. Unger, South Bloomingville, was eastbound on Haysville-Adelphi Road when the right side tires of his vehicle dropped onto the berm of the road. In trying to bring the jeep back onto the roadway, Unger lost control. The vehicle then left the roadway off the left side and travelled through a ditch for 147 feet, before striking a utility pole and tearing down 70 feet of fence. Unger was thrown from the vehicle, and suffered a minor laceration to his forehead.

A South Central Power crew was called to the scene to remove electric wires from the area before wrecker crews could move the jeep.

The second accident occurred on Locust Grove Road, three tenths of a mile east of Clarksburg Pike at 9:45 p.m. Saturday.

The report states that George E. Grey, 36, New Holland, was eastbound on Locust Grove Road, when his vehicle went off the left side of the roadway. It skidded sideways and struck a utility pole, then flipped onto its top.

Grey suffered a small laceration to his forehead and a broken right hand. He was cited by Deputy Tim Hasselbring for operating a motor vehicle while under the influence and no operator's license.

Also at the scene was Commercial Point Chief of Police Ray Yeager.

The third accident of the weekend took place at 6:45 a.m. Sunday on Tarlton Road, one and four tenths miles east of Morris Leist Road, near Logan Elm High School.

According to witness statements, two dogs ran into the path of a car driven by Mathew D. Martin, 20, Laurelville, who was eastbound on Tarlton Road.

When Martin swerved his auto to miss the animals, he lost control of the car.

The vehicle crossed a driveway and struck a mailbox belonging to Ronald Thatcher, 9730 Tarlton Road. It continued on, striking a utility pole and coming to rest against a school sign.

Martin suffered minor abrasions to his knees and elbows. He was referred to his family doctor by Deputy Harold Hopkins, who investigated the incident.

Mother, 3 Children Die In Fire

LONDON (AP) — Fire killed a mother and her three children today in Cambridgeshire in the worst single tragedy since Britain's firemen went on strike three weeks ago to support demands for better pay.

Fifty-nine persons have died in fires throughout the country since 33,000 full-time firefighters walked off the job Nov. 14 demanding a 30 percent increase in pay. The government has rejected the demand, saying it would breach its anti-inflation pay policy calling for maximum raises of 10 percent.

However, fears that the number of fire deaths would increase during the strike have not materialized. Home Office figures indicate the number of fire-related deaths has not risen above the pre-strike average of 2.8 per day.

Motorist Won't Pay Baltimore Ticket

CONOWINGO, Md. (AP) — Robert H. Brown hasn't been to Baltimore in nearly 20 years, although it's less than 30 miles away from his home here.

But that hasn't kept him from getting a Baltimore traffic ticket.

Last August, the mailman brought him an envelope containing a ticket for being illegally parked in Baltimore on Aug. 8.

The city wants $14 for the offense.

But Brown, a retired Army civilian employee, contends he wasn't anywhere near Baltimore. He says he was delivering a birthday gift to his grandson, visiting a sister and going out on a date with a "young girl" in Newark, Del., that day.

"I don't mean she's all that young, but she's younger than me," said the 68-year-old Brown.

Since then, he has been writing motor vehicle authorities but to no avail.

He is especially eager to clear up the matter because motorists with outstanding traffic offenses this week may not receive their registration forms for new license plates next year.

Despite this, he stoutly maintains, "I don't intend to pay" the ticket.

Pen Population Fixed By Court

LUCASVILLE, Ohio (AP) — A federal judge has ordered a limit on the maximum number of inmates in the Southern Ohio Correctional Facility at Lucasville.

U.S. District Court Judge Timothy Hogan ruled Friday the maximum security prison's inmate population may not exceed the number of prisoners as of Sept. 29, 1977, pending approval of a plan to permanently reduce the prison's population.

According to Robert P. App, legal director of the Ohio American Civil Liberties Union, the prison's population ceiling would be about 2,000 under the judge's order.

The state has submitted five plans for reducing the number of prisoners at the facility in response to Hogan's June 29 ruling saying the double up of inmates in cells designed for just one prisoner was a violation of the inmates' constitutional rights.

The ACLU will take depositions from officials of the Department of Rehabilitation and Corrections on Dec. 12 in a move to come up with its own method of easing overcrowding at Lucasville, App said.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — Prices were little changed in the stock market today, continuing last Friday's indecisive trend.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials slipped .26 to 823.72 in the first half hour.

Gainers and losers were evenly balanced in the over-all tally of New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Trading was moderate.

Citicorp, the early volume leader among NYSE issues, was unchanged at 23 3/4.

On Friday the Dow Jones industrial average posted a 1.73 loss to 823.96.

Overall, gainers outnumbered losers by a 7-6 margin on the NYSE.

Big Board volume was a moderate 21.16 million shares, down from 24.22 million the previous day.

The NYSE composite index of more than 1,500 common stocks was unchanged at 52.34.

On the American Stock Exchange, it was a different story with the market value index rising .50 to 124.61.

Prices paid to farmers by Pickaway Grain were:

A Page Of Opinion

Meant To Be Tough

In any endeavor in which standards have been set, failure to meet them results in two choices: Try harder, or change the standards.

The Old Reporter

By JIM BISHOP

Old reporters are maudlin over dead newspapers. They attribute to them virtues they never had. They exaggerate the wisdom of cautious editors. The mundane and sordid events of an earlier decade are given music and lyrics.

The cheap little stories become page one banners. There is a radiance, a glow to everything that happened long ago, a shine which increases in proportion to the reporter's dimming vision.

He distrusts today and all the tomorrows marching toward him. He mocks the schools of journalism as though they were factories turning out computer cubs. He is suspicious of young city editors and cannot abide copy boys with college degrees.

He no longer solicits the easy affability of politicians; the Old Reporter stands off waiting for them to solicit him. No government is on the level; especially his own. Half the businessmen he knows are frauds - and all of the lawyers. Doctors get rich off the poor.

He denies that he is a cynic, but his family learns not to express opinions because of his scorn. Silently, he reads his newspaper and rewrites the leads of good stories. He wishes that the youngsters would dig a little harder to get the facts.

For every one of the past 20 years, he has insisted that he is at the zenith of his wisdom. His thought processes are sounder and his decisions quicker than in the old days. His notes are more meticulous because his head stumbles over names and numbers and streets and dates.

His lapses are longer and his temper shorter. His bottom is broader and his outlook narrower. If he detects a critical note at the city desk, he ascribes it to office politics. Certain "interests" are out to get him.

The Old Reporter will assure you that it is nothing like the good old days when what's-his-name owned the paper. He was what's-his-name's favorite bird dog. They confided in each other and practically ran the newspaper as a one-two team. What's-his-name was a real pistol.

But then, everything was different and, by implication, better. The Old Reporter will knock off work for 20 minutes if he wants to listen to how he and his bride bought their first house when he was earning $40 a week. He was the highest paid man in the city room.

His hair is thin and gray. He wears it as a badge of seniority. His glasses and teeth were bought, and arthritis curls his fingers on the typewriter. Once upon a time he knew everybody in town and now that he could write the obituary page from memory, he refuses.

The Old Reporter is sure that no one knows about the pint of bourbon in his inside pocket. His wife dresses him as a dandy. She can yank his pants up but not his features. Once he graced the drawing rooms of the great. He thinks they have forgotten him. He will not acknowledge that they are gone.

When he is at the scene of a crime,

Welfare is complying with those confidentiality standards on an average of only 37 per cent of the time. HEW Secretary Joseph Califano has informed a House watchdog subcommittee that efforts are being made to tighten compliance, but that the standards also will be reviewed to see if they are overly restrictive.

When the issue is maintaining the confidentiality of personal data collected from millions of citizens, HEW needs to be reminded the 1974 act was meant to be tough - and observed.

Today is Monday, Dec. 5, the 339th day of 1977. There are 26 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1933, prohibition ended in the United States as Utah became the 36th state to ratify the 21st Amendment, repealing the 18th.

On this date:

In 1492, Columbus discovered the West Indian island of Santo Domingo, which now is shared by Haiti and the Dominican Republic.

In 1848, President James Polk announced that gold had been discovered in California. The gold rush of '49 followed.

In 1934, 66 people were executed in Russia after purge trials.

In 1955, blacks in Montgomery, Ala., began a bus boycott to protest segregated seating.

In 1962, the United States and the Soviet Union agreed to cooperate in peaceful uses of outer space.

Ten years ago: One thousand protesters against the Vietnam War demonstrated at an armed forces induction center in New York. Police arrested 264 people, including baby specialist Dr. Benjamin Spock and poet Allen Ginsberg.

Five years ago: The U.S. Supreme Court ruled that states can shut down drinking establishments that feature nude dancers and gross sexuality.

One year ago: The Spanish Socialist Workers Party held its first congress in Spain since a ban by the Franco government, with West Germany's Willy Brandt among those attending.

Today's birthdays: Republican Sen. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina is 75 years old. Former Army secretary Stanley Resor is 60.

Thought for today: There is no inevitability in history except as men make it - U.S. Supreme Court Justice Felix Frankfurter, 1882-1965.

$30,000 MODEL TRAIN — Ed Harris, one of 13 hobbyists in a South Florida railroad club, tips his cap beside a small portion of a $30,000 model railroad display. ## Square Rigged Ship To Be Sold At Auction

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — David Kent's square-rigged tall ship is called the Enchantress, but it seems to be bewitched.

Kent has disappeared, leaving his crew unpaid, his bank clamoring for $422,000 and authorities planning to auction the vessel.

"The last time I saw him he was putting license plates on a new Cadillac," said Chief Deputy U.S. Marshal George Douglas. "He said he was going to Florida." That was in September, Douglas said.

There were 11 crew members, "and they never got paid a cent," Douglas said.

The 94-ton brigantine was built for the Tall Ships race from Portsmouth, England, to Newport in 1976, and was used for a time afterwards as a charter craft.

Douglas' office seized the two-masted ship in September. It will be sold at public auction Dec. 16. It's tied up here at a solitary Goat Island pier, sails furled, and will be open for public inspection on Dec. 13.

Chemical Bank of New York says Kent owes $422,000 on the brigantine. The bank asked that the ship be seized, and federal Judge Raymond Pettine gave Kent 20 days to come up with a partial payment. But Kent disappeared.

Douglas said Kent was a Marine Corps pilot in the Korean War who gave up flying to manage a construction company on Long Island, N.Y. In 1973, he gave up a $50,000 a year job with the firm to build the 19th century replica and sail in the Tall Ships race, the marshal says.

"It took two years to build the hull and another two years to outfit it," Douglas said. Kent originally thought the project would cost about $200,000, but his costs ballooned and he ended up spending about $700,000.

When complete, the Enchantress carried 5,260 square feet of sail on her two masts. Her hull was made from ferro-cement.

Douglas said Kent tried to set up charters to defray some of the costs, and at first his efforts were successful.

"He'd have trips from Port Jefferson, N.Y., to Block Island, with drinking and dancing. They were pretty popular," Douglas said.

But Kent's longer trips were less successful. He chartered the ship to 25 Swedish tourists for a round-trip voyage from Baltimore, Md., to Newport for the America's Cup races.

However, the tourists got off in Newport because "they thought the accommodations weren't worth the $8,000 a week he was charging," Douglas said.

The marshal said there was only one cabin for each eight passengers and only one toilet for 20 persons. "The jail

Victims Of Crime Receive $460,000

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's new program under which victims of crime are compensated by the state for their monetary losses paid out $460,000 in its first 11 months of operation. It has $3.88 million in the bank.

But those who help run the program in the Ohio Court of Claims point out quickly that the figures are misleading. They say it's wrong for anyone to make an assumption that it is overfunded. "Far from it," said Charles E. Crowley, who pays out claims once they have been checked and validated by the attorney general's office.

One of the major reasons that the balance this week was so much greater than expenditures was the timetable under which the program was put into operation.

The first claim was not accepted until Dec. 28, 1976, about three months after assessments of $3 from each court case across Ohio started coming in.

The legislature provided that the program would be funded in this manner, and the courts thus far have collected about $4.1 million in assessments.

Thus, while the assessments have been coming in for about 14 months, payment of claims did not start until last March. Crowley explained that no claim could be paid until after 60 days allowed for investigation by the attorney general, followed by processing and other administrative work.

In addition, he pointed out that only one payment of $50,000 — the maximum permitted by the law for a single claim — has been paid out so far. At various stages of investigation and processing are about 40 death cases which could qualify for the maximum. Should they be approved, they would require an outlay of about $2 million, Crowley noted.

The one maximum payment to date was to the widow of an Akron man killed as he worked in a bar. Although the victim, Donald Pinto, was 67, the state determined that he likely would have lived another 12 years and received at least $50,000 in retirement income and from his employment as a part-time bartender.

Crowley said all told, the state has received about 1,200 claims since the program got under way, while about 350 were approved for total payments of about $460,000.

A bill recently approved by the legislature probably will mean further demands on the treasury. It extends the length of time given to those seeking to file initial claims, when the program first went into effect.

The law said that a person suffering monetary losses as a result of a crime on or after Jan. 3, 1976, had one year to make application. However, the law wasn't immediately implemented and the first claims were not accepted until almost 12 months later.

Crowley said the new law, which takes effect Feb. 7, allows that category of applicants until the end of 1978 to file claims.

It means that 30 cases already rejected, because the one-year statute of limitation had expired, will be reactivated, he said.

Afterward, the one-year limitation will apply to all cases, he added.

John Diefenbaker, Canada's prime minister from 1957-63, was born in 1895 in Ontario.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail VanBuren

Age Not Always Bar To Having Children

DEAR ABBY: FACING FACTS, a newly wed couple, asked if you thought it would be fair to have children at their ages. (She was 30 and he was 50.)

Well, believe it or not, when we married, my husband was a 68-year-old college professor, and I was 20!

We've been happily married for 10 years and are the parents of two beautiful, healthy, and intelligent daughters, now 5 and 9.

Maybe we belong in the Guinness Book of World Records, but we still feel very much blessed in spite of the 48-year age difference between us.

HAPPY IN MASON CITY, IA.

DEAR ABBY: Congratulations. read on for another case that may also belong in the Guinness Book of World Records:

DEAR ABBY: I'm glad you told that couple who hesitated to have children because of their ages to go ahead.

When I was 18 I married a wonderful woman who was then 36 but looked like sweet 16. She had had six children by two previous husbands.

We've been married for eight years, and are now the proud parents of one dozen children—all healthy, thank God.

No names, please. The people in our little town call us "the crazy people with all the kids."

P.S. We've never been on welfare, and I'd like to add that our family is complete now because, after our 12th, I had a vasectomy.

LOVES CHILDREN

DEAR ABBY: I must disagree with the advise you gave that newly married couple who asked if they should have any children. (He was 50 and in good health, and she was 30.)

True they may have everything it takes to be wonderful parents, but no matter how physically fit the man is, there's little chance that he'll be alive and spry at 70.

I'm 24 and when I was born my mother was 37. At all the school functions (especially in grade school) people would ask me why my "grandmother" was there instead of my mother.

I was chided all through school, and you know how cruel children can be without meaning to be.

REMEMBERS WELL

DEAR REMEMBERS: The average life expectancy of a man today is about 70, and I repeat, the number of years a man has lived isn't as important as the condition of his health.

Some men in their 50s and 60s are better qualified for fatherhood than other men who are 30 years younger.

DEAR ABBY: Here's a little tip for DOG TIED, whose neighbor's dog barks at night and disturbs the whole neighborhood: Place the dog owner's telephone number in large letters beside your telephone. Every time the dog barks at night (and the later the better) ring up the owner. It works wonders.

NO LONGER DOG TIED

DEAR NO: What if the dog owner has an unlisted number? Or takes the telephone off the hook after the first ring?

YMCA Site Of Bridge Game

Jennings J. Turner directed the five table Howell game of the Circleville Duplicate Bridge Club Wednesday at the YMCA.

Average score was 36. Winners were: 1. Erna Shook and Phyllis Johnson, 46.5; tied for second was Kate Walters and Betty Story with Miriam and Ben Briner, 41; 4. Joe Lawhorn and Faith Fraser, 37.

The club will hold its annual Christmas Party at 7 p.m., Dec. 7 at the YMCA. Refreshments will be served.

In an effort to keep society news current, The Herald has established the following policy concerning wedding news:

Wedding forms may be obtained at The Herald from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday and until noon on Saturday.

It would be helpful to have the wedding form completed and returned with a picture three days before the wedding.

The Herald will make every effort to publish the story and picture on the next day of publication following the wedding providing the forms and picture are returned before the wedding.

No bridal pictures and stories will be accepted if submitted later than 30 days following the ceremony.

Grocery Bills 10 Per Cent Higher

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

Grocery bills at the start of December were almost 10 percent higher than they were in January, but shoppers who have managed to cut coffee purchases have avoided most of the increase, an Associated Press marketbasket survey shows.

The AP drew up a random list of 15 commonly purchased food and non-food items on March 1, 1973, checked the price at one supermarket in each of 13 cities and has rechecked on or about the start of each succeeding month. One item — chocolate chip cookies — had to be dropped from the list as of the end of November because the manufacturer discontinued the package size used in the survey.

Among the latest findings: —The marketbasket bill increased at the checklist store in every city during the first 11 months of 1977, rising an average of 9 percent. When coffee was removed from the total, however, the average increase was only 3½ percent. Coffee prices generally average about $3.59 a pound, $1 or more above January levels.

—Prices increased slightly during November. The AP survey showed that the marketbasket bill increased last month at the checklist store in seven cities and decreased in six. The average increase was 2.3 percent and the average drop was 1.8 percent. Overall, the average marketbasket bill at the start of December was four-tenths of 1 percent higher than it was a month earlier. During October, the marketbasket bill at the checklist stores dropped an average of one-tenth of 1 percent.

—Higher prices for meat were responsible for much of the November boost. Meats represent 21 percent of the items in the marketbasket, but accounted for 31 percent of the increases last month. The AP survey showed that the price of a pound of center-cut pork chops increased last month at the checklist store in seven cities; chopped chuck went up in five cities and frankfurters rose in three.

—Breakfast staples also increased during November. The price of frozen orange juice concentrate increased at the checklist store in seven cities and the cost of a dozen eggs went up in eight cities.

—Cookie lovers were out of luck. The 14½-ounce bag of chocolate chip cookies which had been used for the survey has been discontinued by the manufacturers, Nabisco, and has been replaced with a 13-ounce bag designed to sell for the same price. The company blamed higher cocoa prices for the change.

The items on the AP checklist were: chopped chuck, center cut pork chops, frozen orange juice concentrate, coffee, paper towels, butter, Grade-A medium white eggs, creamy peanut butter, laundry detergent, fabric softener, tomato sauce, milk, frankfurters and granulated sugar.

The cities checked were: Albuquerque, N.M., Atlanta, Boston, Chicago, Dallas, Detroit, Los Angeles, Miami, New York, Philadelphia, Providence, R.I., Salt Lake City and Seattle.

Nevada Capitol Renovation Scheduled

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP) — Nevada's silver-domed Capitol building has been stripped — furniture and all — as workers prepare for a $5.3 million two-year renovation job to make the building earthquake-safe.

Gov. Mike O'Callaghan was the last state official to leave the 107-year-old, sandstone-sheathed structure Friday.

He left behind a lot of empty space. Footsteps on the Alaska marble floor no longer ring — there's a dismal, even eerie, hollowness.

Treasurer Mike Mirabelli, Secretary of State Bill Swackhamer, Controller Wilson McGowan, their staffs and other government workers moved before O'Callaghan cleared out.

A tour of the once-elegant and busy offices shows rugs stripped off floors, old papers and publications strewn around, all furniture gone and even wallpaper peeling in some areas.

Walls of the cavernous main hallways are bare now that the big paintings of former Nevada governors have been stored until the reconstruction job is done.

Bob Stewart, O'Callaghan's press secretary, says there's "nothing we can do about it but accept it." And he says that while the graceful structure will be totally rebuilt, every effort will be made to leave undisturbed the building's cornerstone, stuffed with everything from a copy of the state Constitution to an old Chinese coin.

"That will not be disturbed if we can help it," he said. "If it was, it would sort of signal the end of this being the Capitol."

The actual moving seems to have gone smoothly enough, but some staffers are complaining that their new quarters are too crowded.

Both Mirabelli and McGowan and their staffs are in temporary quarters, awaiting completion of a new private office building. Then they'll have to move again.

The governor and his staff are moving across the main street to the Supreme Court building, and into quarters recently vacated by Attorney General Bob List.

Scotland has 126 inhabited islands and 564 uninhabited islands.

Cooking Is The In Thing

RUFFINO BRASSATO

4 pounds bottom round pot roast
1 large carrot, peeled
1 or 2 cloves garlic, halved
Salt and pepper
2 medium onions, thinly sliced
2 tablespoons olive or salad oil
1 cup Chianti
3 tablespoons flour
3 tablespoons water

With a long, sharp knife, cut a hole through center of roast; insert carrot. Insert garlic into meat. Sprinkle with salt and pepper.

In Dutch oven, saute' onions in oil until golden. With slotted spoon remove onions from pan.

Brown meat well on all sides. Return onions to pan; add Chianti. Cover tightly and simmer 2½ hours or until meat is tender. Remove meat to serving plate; keep warm.

Combine flour and water to make a smooth paste; stir into pan liquid. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and boils. Season gravy with salt and pepper, if needed. Carve meat so each person gets a carrot slice; serve with gravy.

Yield: 8 servings.

Senior Citizens Honored At Tea

Senior citizens of the Ashille community were honored guests Thursday at a Christmas Party sponsored by the Ashville Women's Civic Club.

Mrs. Lawrence Fullen, program chairman, introduced Miss Darlene Freeman vocal music teacher at Teays Valley High School, and some of her music students who presented several numbers. Mrs. Fullen then introduced Mr. Larry Lewis from the Community United Methodist Church in Circleville, who directed a group of women bell ringers in a number of Christmas carols.

Mrs. Alfred Axe presented the devotions, and the group honored Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bumgardner who were celebrating their 54th wedding anniversary.

The hospitality committee served refreshments to more than 60 guests. During the business session reports were heard on the Big Bear Luncheon and the Christmas Bazaar. Proceeds from these two events will be used for the club's scholarship program.

Members who were not present or those who forgot their Secret Santa gifts are to take them to the home of Mrs. Helen Hedges by Dec. 6. Members who forgot their food donations are to take them to Mrs. Charles Morrison.

Selecting, Trimming Christmas Tree Is Fun Holiday Activity

COLUMBUS — Selecting and trimming the family Christmas tree can be a fun holiday activity for the entire family.

The Ohio Department of Natural Resources (ODNR) estimates that over a million Christmas trees will be purchased by Ohioans this year. To ensure that a Christmas tree is both safe and beautiful during the season, ODNR has a few tips for selecting a tree.

"People who have the patience and give special attention to their Christmas tree, should consider buying a freshly balled and burlapped tree which can be replanted after the holidays," says Ernest Gebhart, Chief of ODNR's Division of Forestry. "Those who don't have room to plant this type of tree after Christmas, can donate it to a local parks department for the enjoyment of all Ohioans."

Freshly cut trees from special Christmas tree farms are becoming more popular for Ohioans. These trees are pruned and nurtured for five to seven years before being cut.

Pine trees native to Ohio are the Scotch pine, Norway spruce White pine and balsam fir.

In selecting and cutting your own tree, the tree should be straight with a conical shape. The tree should emit a fragrant scent and be fresh enough to retain its needles through out the Christmas season.

In selecting from cut trees, ODNR recommends trees cut in Ohio. The trees should be fresher and less of a fire hazard than those cut early in the season and imported from other states.

When purchasing a pre-cut tree, check for freshness by bending a pine needle on one of the branches. If the tree is fresh, the needle will snap back into place.

It is also important to note that different tree species hold their needles for varying lengths of time. Scotch pine is noted for retaining its needles, while a Norway spruce tree loses its needles very quickly.

For those who enjoy the tree fragrance, balsam fir and white pine produce a pleasant aroma.

ODNR suggests that one inch should be cut off the base of a pre-cut tree, to increase the tree's absorption. Place the tree in a bucket of cold water and store it outside in a place protected from the wind, until it is brought inside for decorating. Use a treeholder with a water container at the base of the tree.

When trimming the tree, remember not to place it near an open heating duct, which will dry it out, or near a fire escape route in the home.

A homemade fire retardant can be made to add to the safety of your Christmas tree. Mix one and one-quarter cups of boric acid and an equal amount of borax in three gallons of water. Place the mixture in a tree holder reservoir.

Evangelists Meet To Discuss Financial Disclosure

EDITOR'S NOTE: Americans gave nearly $30 billion to charity last year. The biggest chunk of the money went to religious groups. And these organizations are under growing pressure to give donors more information about the way contributions are spent. Here, in the first of a five-part series, is a look at the move toward financial disclosure by charities.

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

Representatives of the nation's top evangelical associations are meeting in Chicago later this week to talk about money and to try to decide how much they should tell the public about the way contributions are spent.

The religious charities traditionally have been the strongest opponents of efforts to force non-profit organizations to disclose information about their financial operations. Some spokesmen contend that legislation on financial disclosure would be a violation of the principle of separation of church and state.

The arguments and the fears remain. But a growing number of religious leaders say they must set up a voluntary system for financial disclosure to avoid a mandatory one.

In a recent meeting in Washington, D.C., Roman Catholic bishops approved strict new standards governing fund raising in the church. The standards, intended for use by all Catholic dioceses and religious orders in the United States, require full accountability to contributors, with regular, audited reports setting forth the amounts collected, the costs of the fund raising and the purposes and uses of the money.

The evangelical leaders — about three dozen of them — were invited to Chicago by W. Stanley Mooneyham, president of World Vision, which a spokesman describes as "a non-profit, interdenominational outreach of Christians concerned with the physical and spiritual needs of people around the world."

World Vision has been one of the few religious groups which has always been willing to provide financial information to donors who asked.

In July, officials of World Vision and about half a dozen other religious charities met in the office of U.S. Sen. Mark O. Hatfield, R-Ore., who is a member of the World Vision board.

Among the subjects under discussion was a bill proposed by U.S. Rep. Charles H. Wilson, D-Calif., which would require most major charities to provide a breakdown of where and how their money is spent.

Speaking in support of his bill, Wilson said it represented "a golden opportunity to take a positive step that will insure that the vital work done by legitimate charitable organizations can be continued in the future in an environment that is not tainted by frequent scandal."

At about the same time as Wilson was speaking, Hatfield was talking to the religious leaders. Richard L. Watson, director of communications for World Vision, said Hatfield told them: "If Christian agencies don't take the bull by the horns and come up with some kind of organization of their own that voluntarily provides information, then Congress is going to do it."

"We agreed with Sen. Hatfield... We felt Christian agencies ought to do something voluntarily."

Watson said World Vision supports the idea of financial disclosure, but is opposed to making it mandatory.

There had been pressure for financial disclosure from other sources as well. Published reports said that the Billy Graham Evangelistic Association was not in compliance with a Minnesota law requiring registration and annual reports on annuity plans sold in the state. The problem — which Graham blamed on postal and other errors — was cleared up, and the association subsequently provided, for the first time, a full, public breakdown of its spending.

The issue of financial disclosure is not a new one. Religious organizations in particular have come under attack ever since the scandal within the Pallottine Fathers of Baltimore, a Roman Catholic order, which raised $20 million in a two-year period, but spent less than 5 percent of the funds on charitable purposes.

Some states already limit the amount charities can spend on fund raising. Others require charities to include a financial statement along with appeals.

Advertisements for the Save the Children Foundation of Westport, Conn., include a section which asks potential donors: "Do you wish verification of Save the Children credentials?" The section says that 78.1 percent of the organization's money is used for direct aid and support of the charity itself. An annual report and audit statement are available on request.

World Vision tells contributors: "Over the past three years, World Vision invested more than $43.9 million on its ministries while total overhead has averaged 17.1 percent." A complete financial report is sent to anyone who requests it.

Like other charities, religious organizations are covered by a portion of the Internal Revenue Service code which provides tax-exempt status to

Grand Jury Meets In Third Session

The Pickaway County Grand Jury met in their third session Friday. Testimony was heard from seven witnesses. Fourteen true bills were returned along with one no bill.

True bills were returned against the following people:

James Harvey Fawbush, breaking and entering and grand theft; Robert Lee May, aggravated burglary and grand theft; Ralph Stephen West, grand theft; Ricky E. Strous, breaking and entering; Carlene Carver, carrying a concealed weapon; David Junior Campbell, grand theft; John Steven Sterling, aggravated burglary and petty theft; William Lowery, breaking and entering (two counts), and grand theft.

Five secret indictments were returned also. A no bill was returned for Orlando Evans, charged with corruption of a minor.

Arraignments will be held Dec. 7 and Dec. 14.

Members of the grand jury are Betty D. Waidelich, Edward Ray Boyer, Floda Faye Graham, Shirley A. Beavers, William L. Robbins, John W. Lovely, Leona Reigel, Iris Jeanne Moon, Deputy Forelady; and Beverly A. Bechtel, Forelady.

"corporations or any community chest fund or foundation organized and operated exclusively for religious, charitable, scientific, testing for public safety, literary or educational purposes or for the prevention of cruelty to children or animals."

Under the code, none of the net earnings of the group can go to any private shareholder or individual. Tax-exempt groups also are prohibited from "carrying on propaganda or otherwise attempting to influence legislation."

There are some 250,000 tax-exempt organizations in the United States. Most of them are required to file financial reports with the IRS. Because of constitutional guarantees of separation of church and state, however, any religious group which qualifies under IRS rules as an "integrated auxiliary of a church" does not have to file such a report.

(Note: some religious charities may provide financial reports on individual arms of their operations which do not meet IRS requirements for the exemption from filing.)

It is these religious groups, however, which raise the most money. The American Association of Fund-Raising Counsel Inc. says Americans gave a record $29.42 billion to charity in 1976, up 9.4 percent from 1975. Religious groups got 43.6 percent or $12.84 billion, up 9.9 percent from the previous year.

The Treasury Department estimates that deductions taken by individual taxpayers for charitable contributions in 1976 cost the federal government about $4 billion in lost taxes.

Billy Graham has noted in the past that churches and church-related groups are not required to provide financial information. "But the mood of the country is moving in that direction," he added, and "we will gladly conform to it."

Graham also said: "When people give to our association they trust that it's being handled properly and wisely and invested for the advancement of the Kingdom of God, which all of it is."

Helen O'Rourke, director of the Philanthropic Advisory Service of the Council of Better Business Bureaus, agreed that many contributors accept, on faith, that their money will be spent wisely.

Mrs. O'Rourke said the organization got several critical letters after it was disclosed that the BBB listed the Graham association as failing to comply with council standards.

The council keeps files on about 10,000 charities. It regularly publishes a brochure called "Give, But Give Wisely," listing about 500 charities which are broken down into two groups — those which comply with BBB standards and those which don't. Among the standards is a requirement that the organization provide an independent financial audit and that it spend at least 50 percent of its money on program purposes.

Most of the organizations which are not in compliance are religious in nature. As of late last year, Mrs. O'Rourke said less than 10 percent of the religious-based organizations had provided an independent financial statement. (World Vision is in compliance; the Billy Graham Evangelistic Association is not, although officials have said they will provide the financial information required to change the group's status.)

Why are they so uncooperative? "It's not a matter of being uncooperative," said Mrs. O'Rourke. "They seem to think that we have no right to ask them the question." She said some religious-backed organizations "feel like they only have to answer to God."

World Vision's Watson said he expects a specific course of action to come out of the Chicago meeting. He also said that financial disclosure has helped rather than hurt the charity. "The more we tell people, the more confidence they are having in World Vision," he said.

Mandatory Warning Labels Proposed For Liquid Protein

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government, in proposing mandatory warning labels on predigested liquid protein and other protein supplements, says it may yet try to ban the products as a health risk.

The Food and Drug Administration said Thursday that 31 deaths are now being examined for possible links to liquid protein diets, although medical investigators say they are sure of a connection in only 10 fatalities.

Those 10 deaths, all women under age 45 who died of sudden heart attacks after weeks of ingesting nothing but liquid protein, raised particular concern because all of them were dieting under medical supervision.

The modified liquid protein fast was made popular by a book called "The Last Chance Diet."

In proposing the warning label regulation, Food and Drug Commissioner Donald M. Kennedy asked for scientific and legal comments on whether the protein products need to be banned and the best way to take such action.

"If we determine that the risk to consumers cannot be controlled by labeling," Kennedy said, "then FDA will act to remove the product from the market."

Sen. Charles H. Percy of Illinois, the ranking Republican on a special Senate nutrition and health committee, said the FDA's warning proposal doesn't go far enough and repeated his call for the agency to pull the product off the market.

The FDA's proposed regulation, published in the Federal Register today, would require all protein supplements intended for use in weight reduction or maintenance programs to bear this label:

"WARNING — Very low calorie protein diets may cause serious illness or death. DO NOT USE FOR WEIGHT REDUCTION OR MAINTENANCE WITHOUT MEDICAL SUPERVISION. Do not use for any purpose without medical advice if you are taking medication. Not for use by infants, children or pregnant or nursing women."

The labeling requirement, which for procedural reasons won't take effect for at least two months, will apply both to liquid protein products and powders designed to be mixed with a liquid, the agency said.

A shorter, blunter warning would be required on the various protein supplements being sold in health food and drug stores but not intended for dieters. It would say: "WARNING — Very low calorie protein diets may cause serious illness or death. DO NOT USE FOR WEIGHT REDUCTION OR MAINTENANCE."

The FDA said it intends to require warnings on nondietary supplements because they are used to lose weight whether or not they are explicitly labeled for that purpose.

The Logan Elm School News Page

Club Officers Elected

By MARSHA GREENWALT
Logan Elm's Girls Varsity Club is in its second year. The club consists of 23 members and are under the supervision of Mr. Brown, assistant principal. To be a member of the Varsity Club, one must earn a varsity letter.

The officers for the 1977-78 year are Diane Martin, president; Beth Bell, vice-president; Kim Williams, secretary; and Cheryl Hawkins, treasurer.

The girls' present activity is selling Logan Elm belt buckles. If they are successful in selling the Brave belt buckles, they will talk about future activities.

Braves Season Starts

By BRUCE HANNIGAN
The Braves started out on the right track to begin their 1977-78 basketball season by defeating Westfall 65-52. Butch Kobel stated before the game, "It will be a good contest because they are big, fast and well balanced." He predicted Logan Elm would have to control the board and play sound defense.

Jeff Collins led all scorers with 16 points, Mark Vanover netted 11, Terry Wright hooped 10, Dan Hill downed 8 and Jerry Scanlan shot 7. Mark Martin, Brad Hunt and Dave Elsea each scored 2 and Bruce Hannigan added a free throw.

Costs In Sports Explained

By BEV HASKINS
If a team looks good they play good. This is a common opinion of Butch Kobel, boys varsity basketball coach, and Miss Sue McBroom, girls varsity basketball and reserve volleyball coach.

Kobel explained how the LE varsity boy's basketball team received new warm-up pants. Each team was a budget and the varsity boys' basketball budget is $2,000. With this $2,000 they pay for officials, deputies, balls and etc. for each game. One game cost approximately $100.

It costs about $200 for medical supplies and $30 a piece for balls. The boys buy their own shoes, which cost $32. Each uniform that is purchased is worn for eight years, and each ball becomes a practice ball after the games.

Miss McBroom feels the girls' varsity basketball needs new uniforms, especially jerseys, and some type of warm-up suits. If these are purchased it will be from the athletic fund with the help of the booster club. Like the boys, the girls furnish the shoes and shorts.

Teacher Explains Math Concepts

DAVID BEAVERS

By JACKIE GOODE
"I am concerned that all my students learn the concepts taught in the math courses and that they use them in their future vocation," explained David Beavers of his philosophy of teaching.

Beavers, math teacher at Logan Elm, has had many rewarding years of teaching. Ten of these were spent at Logan Elm. In 1970 he received the Jaycee's Outstanding Young Educator Award. He is now the mathematics department coordinator, and he served two terms as president of the Logan Elm Classroom Teachers' Association. He has also had several students who have won math awards in the state, and the 1976 Geometry Scholarship Team was number one in the state.

"I enjoy seeing a student's face light up when he grasps a difficult concept for the first time," is the greatest satisfaction Beavers receives from teaching.

In his spare time Beavers does oil painting and reading, and also teaches Sunday School at Emmett Chapel. He also serves on the board of chairmen of the Pastor-Parish Commission.

Beavers resides at 1915 Chippewa Drive with his wife, Judith Beavers, librarian coordinator for Logan Elm District, and his 3-year-old son, Brian.

Sophomores To Tour Center

By JEFF BLOOMFIELD
On Dec. 9, the tenth graders will take a tour of the vocational school to find out if they might be interested in attending the center when they are juniors. Students will be split into four groups while they are touring the school. The tour will be from 9:25 a.m. until 11:30 a.m.

The students will go to an orientation then they will take a look at a typical day at the vocational school. They will also find out some reasons why students who now go to J.V.S. like it. They then will take a tour of the center and leave for Logan Elm at 11:30 a.m.

LEGAL NOTICE
Pursuant to 12 U.S.C. par. 182, notice is hereby given that the shareholders of The Third National Bank of Circleville, 166 East Main Street, Circleville, Ohio, have agreed to transfer by purchase the assets and liabilities of the bank to TNB National Bank, Circleville, Ohio, a wholly-owned subsidiary of First National Cincinnati Corporation organized for that purpose. As of the consummation of the sale, TNB National Bank changed its name to The Third National Bank of Circleville, assumed all of the selling bank's outstanding liabilities to depositors and creditors, and will continue the business of the selling bank under the same name, at the same location, and with the same officers, directors and employees as the selling bank. The selling bank's shareholders, at a special meeting held on September 27, 1977, elected to voluntarily liquidate and dissolve their bank as a separate entity. However, this will not affect the continuation of the selling bank's banking business. December 5, 1977 thru February 3, 1978

Student Says School Is 'Terrific'

AB LUCAS

By TIM COLLINS
"It's a terrific school" replied Ab Lucas, a new student at Logan Elm High School. Ab is a freshman and is the son of George K. Lucas of 26926 Tarlton Adelphi Road.

Ab is originally from Christiansburg, Virginia where he went to Christiansburg Junior High School. Ab's feelings about Logan Elm are good. Ab feels good about the athletic programs, the student body, the small school atmosphere, and the county location of the school.

Ab's interests are playing baseball, basketball and reading sport books. He is a lead drummer in the band and the freshmen basketball team manager.

Cavendar Memorial To Be Given

By TERRY WRIGHT
The first annual Renee Cavendar Memorial Award will be presented at this year's spring awards assembly. The award will be given in honor of Renee Cavendar who died in a tragic accident last spring. It will be presented to a girl at Logan Elm who has good character, above average grades, displays good sportsmanship and is involved in at least two sports.

A large silver plate engraved with the memorial name and yearly winners will be kept at the school and a smaller replica will be given to the recipient.

The award is sponsored by the Junior Class of 1977, G.A.A., Girls Varsity Club and the F.C.A. The yearly plate will be donated by the G.A.A.

Girls Basketball Season Starting

By TAMMIE WOOTEN
McDowell Exchange School is up and coming with girls sports. Not only has it taken in volleyball, but basketball is now starting as well.

Miss Cheri Gilroy is a first year coach and English teacher at McDowell. She has held a meeting of the girls interested in basketball and practice will start when they can find an available gymnasium. Miss Gilroy will be picking 15 girls, plus managers and statisticians. There will be Varsity and Reserve squads, and possibly captains.

When asked how she felt about girls sports climbing up in the schools, Miss Gilroy stated, "It is great that junior high girls now have the opportunity to compete at an inner-scholastic level."

McDowell girls basketball teams have 8 scheduled games plus tournaments. Tournaments will be held Feb. 28 and March 2 and 4, at McDowell. The girls will play their first game against Smith Jr. High at home on Jan. 18, 4:30 p.m.

Bus Driving Is Big Responsibility

FAY CONGROVE

By MARK VANOVER
Fay Congrove of Route 1, Laurelville has been a substitute bus driver for six months at Logan Elm. Ms. Congrove states, "as a bus driver I make sure all kids stay in their seats while the bus is moving."

She has driven all routes except one in Laurelville. She says that being a sub can be rough because, "you sometimes get called in on quick notice. Being a sub also is a big responsibility, you got to remember all the routes." She says she really likes her job and plans on working for a good while if health and family permits.

Hubert H. Bancroft, 1832-1918, noted historian of North America, was born in Granville, Licking County. —AP

SANTA and the PIGWIDGEN

By LUCRECE BEALE

Synopsis: Claus leaves toys in the stockings of the sleeping children. He sets out to find the Pigwidgen and break the curse. No one can help him until an old woman speaks up.

CHAPTER FOUR PATRICK TWEEDLEKNEES

CLAUS leaned over the old woman and gently shook her bony shoulders.

"You've got to tell me what you know!" he cried. "All the children of the land are sleeping because of this Pigwidgen curse."

"A Pigwidgen curse is a fearful thing," wheezed the crone. "That is why you had best go home."

"Who is the Pigwidgen?" asked Claus. "Where does he live? What does he do?"

The old woman closed her eyes. "I don't remember," she whined. "I am very old."

She pressed her lips together and would not say another word.

Claus begged and teased and threatened but the old granny would not speak or open her eyes or even breathe. "She is dead," thought Claus in despair. At that instant the crone's eyes popped open and she cackled. "Ice cream always helps a person to remember."

Claus rushed to an ice cream store and brought back all the ice cream he could carry. The ancient one ate seven quarts in seven different flavors. When the last box was licked clean she said:

"When I was a girl a hundred years ago a crooked-legged elf told me about the Pigwidgen. Go to him and he will tell you, too."

"A hundred years ago?" gasped Claus. "Where could I find such a creature now?"

"On the Sopchoppy River Ferry."

"Where is that?"

"When night has come, take the Claus bought all the ice cream he could carry.

crooked road out of town. When you come to the fork take the middle road to the weeping willow tree. Circle the willow 14 times."

"And then?" cried Claus.

But the old crone's eyes had closed again. Her mouth folded together. No more would she say.

Claus left her. He went through the town asking directions to the crooked road. No one had heard of such a road. Nor had anyone heard of the Sopchoppy River Ferry.

Claus waited until dark. Then he walked to the four edges of the town. Nowhere did he see a crooked road. Four times he went to the four edges of the town. On the fourth time when he came to the fourth side the moon had come out and he saw a crooked road where before a straight road had been.

Claus was very tired but he raced down the loony, ziggity-zaggity, yawing, catawampous road. At last he came to a fork. One road branched left and one road branched right. The middle road was not a road at all but only a path laid down by the moon.

Claus followed the path. He ran on until the path was blocked by a giant willow tree. Although it was winter the tree was in full leaf.

Claus circled the tree 14 times. The circle grew wider and larger until he was miles from the tree. When he had counted 14 times he fell on the ground in exhausted sleep.

A glittering light and a blow in the face awakened him. He opened his eyes to find a tiny elf leaning over him and yanking on his hair. The elf waved a flashlight made of fireflies and shouted. "Wake up! Wake up!"

"W-who are you?" stammered Claus.

"Patrick Tweedleknies," snapped the elf and he gave the astonished Claus a fierce poke in the nose.

Bandits Get More Than Bargained For

BALTIMORE (AP) - Two bandits got $33 and more than they bargained for when they invaded a West Baltimore home.

The bandits handcuffed Richard English, 24, and his brother Leroy, 25, together after breaking into the house.

When the robbers demanded money, the two brothers suggested that one of them search the house with 13-year-old Denise Powell, the English brothers' half-sister.

While Denise was upstairs with one robber, the handcuffed pair charged the other robber, and shoved him through a first floor window.

At the same time, Denise pushed the surprised second robber off a second story porch.

The bandits fled as a neighbor appeared on the scene, and police have not found them.

Anita Bryant Wants Prayer Back In Schools

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) - Anita Bryant, professing love for homosexuals, says she is now more interested in getting Bible reading and prayer back into American schools.

"There is so much emphasis on that (homosexuality) when there are so many things to be concerned about - abortion, pornography, drug use, things that desperately need our attention," Miss Bryant told a news conference Sunday before appearing at the Revive America Crusade here.

"I have love in my heart for all homosexuals," she said. Miss Bryant became controversial when she led the movement that repealed a homosexual civil rights ordinance in Dade County, Fla.

She said she planned to formally announce a program encouraging school prayer.

Public Employees React To Veto Of Bargaining Bill

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) - Officials of public employee organizations feared retaliation and loss of power after Gov. James A. Rhodes vetoed legislation that would have given them the right to strike.

"The governor's veto demonstrates once again that he simply does not comprehend the critical need for a law that will bring some order out of the chaos in employee-employer relationships," said Sally Savage, president of the 83,000-member Ohio Education Association.

Ms. Savage said Friday that Ohioans should expect more disruptions in public employment if the veto is sustained. "This veto could mean a continued acceleration of employee-employer disputes as the state faces a period of confusion and conflict."

"I'm sorry he did that," said Jim O'Meara, executive secretary of the Cleveland Teachers Union. "Public employees are in dire need of some protection to allow them to negotiate with their employers like they do in private industry."

More than half that system's 5,400 teachers stayed away from classes for the second day Friday because they have not been paid.

In refusing to grant 510,000 employees the right to strike, Rhodes said a collective bargaining bill "must ... create a healthy and productive atmosphere for negotiations between employers and employees while simultaneously guaranteeing to the taxpaying public continued and uninterrupted services for which they have paid tax dollars."

Senate Democrats may try as early as Tuesday to override the veto. However, House leaders said that chamber probably will wait until the first of next year because of expected absences in Democratic House ranks during the legislature's planned one-day working session.

Sen. Harry Meshel, D-Youngstown, chief sponsor of the bill, predicted that the will of the legislature will prevail.

Arthur Evans, legislative agent of the 27,500-member Ohio Civil Service Employees Association, said its officials were "extremely disappointed" by Rhodes' veto.

"There's no question that state employees need some tools" for their protection, Evans said.

He said he believes it's possible to override the veto.

Roberta Hunter, president of the Dayton Education Association, said: "I'm angry and disappointed at the governor's veto."

Flynt Will Return To Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (AP) - Hustler magazine publisher Larry Flynt said God has told him to publish an illustrated version of the Bible, but first he wants to be tried again on pornography charges in Cincinnati.

Flynt, who was convicted here of engaging in organized crime and pandering in obscenity, said he plans to return to Cincinnati this week "to sell my magazine on the streets and force them to arrest me again."

"I've got the scripture on one hand and the First Amendment on the other. I don't intend to lose," Flynt told a Washington, D.C., convention of the Speech Communication Association on Saturday.

Flynt is appealing his Cincinnati conviction which resulted in a sentence of seven to 25 years in prison. His magazine is also banned for sale in Hamilton County under obscenity laws.

Flynt, who claims to have found religion through evangelist Ruth Carter Stapleton, said he wants an opportunity for a fair trial.

"I intend to do this in the Cincinnati courts," he said.

Another Hamilton County trial would be different because a Cleveland judge earlier this fall struck down Ohio's organized crime statute under which he was convicted, Flynt said.

The pornographer said he intends to sell a old copy of Hustler in Cincinnati, similar to the ones for which he was convicted.

After his Cincinnati confrontation, Flynt said he plans to work on his version of the Bible.

"God has asked me to publish an illustrated version of the Bible," Flynt said. He said he also plans a documentary which he termed "a religious 'Roots.'"

Flynt said he was "born again" as a Christian with the help of Mrs. Stapleton, President Carter's sister.

"I am the happiest man I know today," Flynt said. He promised a number of editorial changes will soon take place in Hustler.

Carter Urged To Extend Rights Campaign

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Former South Vietnamese premier Nguyen Cao Ky says he has urged President Carter to extend his human rights campaign to Vietnamese refugees.

Ky, who now runs a liquor store in Orange County, told Los Angeles radio station KNX Sunday that he sent telegrams Saturday to Carter, Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., and the United Nations urging the president to admit into the United States refugees who flee Vietnam in small boats.

"President Carter is speaking about human rights and so forth," Ky said. "So I think the case of the refugees is a good case for him to show that he really cares about human rights."

OEA Urges Tax Revision

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Major revision of state and local tax structures to better fund public education has been urged by the Ohio Education Association's Fall Representative Assembly.

A legislative position approved by the 1,095 delegates Saturday said "sufficient revenues to fund a thorough and efficient system of elementary and secondary schools must be produced and designated clearly for that purpose."

Delegates also urged development of adequate funding of higher education, saying the state should "provide full opportunity for each person in the state who can profit from it."

In all, the convention approved 57 legislative policies, including ones favoring a collective bargaining bill for public employees and a teacher contract measure. The two bills have been passed by the legislature but vetoed by Gov. James A. Rhodes.

In other business, the assembly endorsed the position that teachers should not be required to work when they are not paid because of a school district's lack of funds.

Ward Rountree, a teacher with the Dayton schools, was elected to an at-large seat on the OEA executive committee for a term running until Aug. 31, 1978.

Grand Jury To Probe Death Of Cincy Man

SANIBEL ISLAND, Fla. (AP) — A grand jury will probe the death of a Cincinnati man who was apparently run over by a car in the driveway of his posh Sanibel condominium, authorities said.

Milton J. Leake Jr., 56, a retired Cincinnati engineer, was found dead Friday, and Dr. Leslie McClimans, a Largo osteopath, was arrested in connection with the death.

Pending the grand jury inquest, McClimans was released on $10,300 bond on a second-degree murder charge lodged by the Lee County Sheriff's Department.

Leake was reportedly on vacation in Florida.

Ohio Traffic Toll Is 14

By The Associated Press
A triple fatality accident west of Columbus and a pair of double-fatalities helped boost Ohio's weekend traffic death toll to 14 by today.

Three westside Columbus residents — an 18-year-old woman, her 20-month-old son and her 10-year-old brother — were killed Sunday when the westbound car in which they were riding went out of control on U.S. 40, crossed the grass median and travelled into the path of an eastbound car, authorities said.

The two double fatalities occurred Saturday.

The Highway Patrol's weekend records of traffic deaths are kept from 6 p.m. Friday until midnight Sunday.

The dead:

SUNDAY
AKRON — Katherine Lindsey, 55, Akron, in a one-car accident on Ohio 8 in Summit County.

NORTHWOOD — Robert Edwards, 19, Northwood, in a one-car accident on a Northwood city street.

XENIA — Lesslie L. Teeters, 20, Jamestown, in a one-car accident on Ohio 72 in Greene County.

COLUMBUS — Donna Harmon, 18, Steve Harmon, 20 months, and Billy Harmon, 10, all of Columbus, in a two-car collision on U.S. 40 west of Columbus.

SATURDAY
CINCINNATI — Roosevelt Nixon, 30, Cincinnati, in a two-car accident on a rural Hamilton County road in Springfield Township.

ANTWERP — Terry L. McNabb, 31, Antwerp, when he drove off the road and hit a tree along Ohio 49 two miles south of Antwerp in Paulding County.

ELYRIA — Ronnie Cummings, 42, and Ron DeHart, 27, both of Grafton, when their car collided with a truck at the intersection of Ohio 82 and 83 near Eaton Township in Lorain County.

AURORA — Gary Colnar, 21, Bainbridge, and Donald Cochrane, 20, Bedford Heights, when their vehicle went out of control and struck a tree in Aurora.

FRIDAY NIGHT
WARREN — Laura A. Perell, 19, Sharon, Pa., a pedestrian on Ohio 82 in Trumbull County.

LISBON — Ronald D. Fuson, 25, Salem, one-car accident on U.S. 62 in Columbiana County.

Former Governor Sells Souvenirs

ATLANTA (AP) — Former Georgia Gov. Lester Maddox, recovering from last fall's heart attack, has opened a souvenir shop in a large indoor flea market in Atlanta.

Maddox, who has operated several restaurants in Atlanta and in his hometown of Marietta just north of Atlanta, has complained often that he still has substantial debts from his unsuccessful campaign for governor in 1974.

"If I can just get well, I can make it," he said last month, two months after suffering the heart attack.

Maddox, who preceded Jimmy Carter as governor of Georgia, serving from 1967-1971, also was the American Independent Party's presidential candidate in 1976.

Ohioans Will Elect Governor, Lieutenant Governor As Team

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohioans will elect their next governor and lieutenant governor as a team in November 1978.

But how will the teams be paired? By mutual agreement before the primary, or will the candidates run separately in the primary and unite for the general election?

That's what the legislature hopes to decide when it returns Tuesday for an expected oneday working session. The Cleveland school crisis and a controversial bill giving tax breaks to new and expanding industry also will come under scrutiny.

Majority Democrats also may try to override Gov. James A. Rhodes' veto of a Democratic priority bill which would give collective bargaining rights to about 510,000 state and local public employees.

The so-called tandem election bill was introduced early this year as a result of a 1976 amendment to the Ohio Constitution, approved by voters, which mandates the joint election of the governor and lieutenant governor.

But the amendment dealt only with the November general election, and left it up to the legislature to determine how the teams would be nominated. The legislature ran into a lot of differing opinions — not at all partisan — over how it should be done.

Sen. Tony P. Hall, D-Dayton, Senate elections committee chairman, came forward with a bill that would require aspirants for the two top offices to win primary election nominations on their own.

It sailed through the Senate and was sent to the House where it promptly was changed to allow the candidates for governor to pick their own running mates before the primary.

Late last June, the bill went to a Senate-House conference committee, headed by Hall, but it became hopelessly deadlocked and adjourned. Then, late last week, Hall said he had decided to go along with the House version and reported that Senate Majority Leader Oliver Ocasek, D-Akron, had decided to do the same.

Both had opposed the House version adamantly last summer, and their change of heart has not yet been fully explained. Hall said he had done "a lot of thinking" and decided that when voters approved the constitutional amendment, they probably thought they were opting for a pre-primary team up.

Ocasek said almost the same, and added that separate nominations could produce a team that was "incompatible." The Senate leader denied he had made a deal with House Speaker Vernal G. Riffe Jr., D-New Boston, who wants to let the candidates for governor choose their mates.

"I don't make deals," said Ocasek, adding that he had wanted the House to go along with a Senate bill drawing new congressional districts in Ohio more favorable to Democrats.

"The redistricting bill apparently is dead. If there had been an area for negotiations, that would have been it," the senator said.

Riffe and Ocasek both are possible candidates for governor next year, but have said they will not run against each other in the primary. Most of the other gubernatorial hopefuls have said they do not have strong feelings one way or the other. Gov. James A. Rhodes, however, wants the House bill and has said so, even though he still is holding off on his reelection campaign announcement.

Expected before the Senate Tuesday is a bill that would let the Cleveland City School District, and possibly others, borrow against next year's tax revenues to continue operating this year. Riffe promised immediate House action, if the Senate passes it.

Ocasek said he and the speaker were trying over the weekend to find common ground for the industrial tax break bill. It has been languishing in a joint conference committee in a dispute over whether the state or local governments should absorb the fiscal impact of the tax reductions.

Campaign To Reorganize Government Behind Schedule

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter's campaign to reorganize the federal government has slipped behind schedule. But from Carter's standpoint, that's not all bad.

As administration officials tell it, the delays add up to making haste slowly. Postponed timetables, they argue, are likely to avoid more lengthy delays later.

Take the case of a planned reorganization of the agencies that handle federal paperwork for the do-it-yourself pension programs known as Keogh Plans and Individual Retirement Accounts.

Carter's reorganizers, working out of the Office of Management and Budget, had hoped two months ago to have a detailed pension reorganization plan ready for submission to Congress on Oct. 17. Now they may wait until next year.

The reason for the delay, according to Richard Pettigrew, the president's top reorganization aide: the House committee that will handle the plan favors the creation of a single agency to administer the pension programs. But its Senate counterpart wants the chore divided, as it is now, between the Labor Department and the Internal Revenue Service, supporting only limited changes to better define jurisdictional boundaries.

Pettigrew said in a telephone interview that the administration is trying to develop a consensus position so whatever plan eventually is submitted will sail through Congress without serious opposition.

Under reorganization powers granted Carter last April, any administration plan for reorganization is killed if disapproved by either the Senate or House within 60 working days.

Because of this veto threat, the reorganizers give every evidence of trying hard to work closely with Congress in advance so their plans, once submitted, face promising odds.

Thus Carter's Reorganization Plan No. 1, involving the Executive Office of the President, took effect automatically in October with minimal congressional opposition. And Plan No. 2, to replace the U.S. Information Agency with a new International Communication Agency, seems assured of early approval.

Among other things, the Executive Office plan abolished the Office of Drug Abuse Policy, which did give the reorganizers some uncomfortable moments. As Harrison Wellford, OMB's executive associate director, told a reporter:

"One of our unpleasant duties is to have to go up to Capitol Hill and explain to a committee whose only justification (for existence) is the oversight of a unit that we are abolishing. (On the drug agency) we really had three hours of unmitigated hell."

Echoing Pettigrew, Wellford said, "We have really made a tremendous effort to go out to the congressional committees at early stages to get their advice about options that we are developing."

The ultimate objective, said Wellford, is "being sure we have a good sense of what needs to be done, and what's politically feasible."

Yes, you could call it making haste slowly.

Miami Offering Italian Course

Opportunity to study Italian language and culture "under optimum conditions" is offered in the Sixth Annual Miami University Summer Language Institute in Italy for eight weeks next summer.

The intensive program enables students to accomplish the material of a full academic year and earn eight semester credits. It is open to incoming freshmen and college graduates as well as those already attending any recognized U.S. college or university. Intensive instruction at elementary, intermediate and advanced levels is offered. Enrollment deadline is March 15, 1978.

Inquiries may be directed to the director of the program, Dr. Peter Pedroni, 64 Irvin Hall, Miami University, Oxford, Ohio 45056. He is a member of Miami's Department of French and Italian and is director of its International Studies Program.

Grandpa Goddard Looking For Third Wife

LAKEORE, Ohio (AP) — Grandpa Goddard, who at age 81 has outlived two wives already, is looking for another bride — this time from south of the border.

"I guess I'll advertise in some Mexican papers for a wife. That way I'll get a better choice," said William Goddard of Lakemore, who says he's disappointed in results of his search for a West Virginia farm girl or a rich widow.

Goddard, who has been married a total of 50 years, says he's aware that a Mexican woman might just want passage across the border.

"I know if I brought one back from Mexico with me, she'd probably take off in no time," he said. "Hell, that's all right, you just go back and get another one. That way you help immigration."

His daughter, Elinor McCordle, and a waitress at a restaurant where he eats every day, are going to teach him enough Spanish to get along in Mexico.

Goddard said he ought to go on his wife-hunting mission before it gets too cold "or else I have to buy a pair of blankets."

What's the age limit?

"Well, let's say 18 to 80," he said. "... you better make that 21 instead of 18. I don't want people to think I'd rob the cradle. I don't want to leave anybody out. The only thing is the older they are, the richer they have to be."

Goddard buys a bus pass and travels from city to city, whenever he feels like it.

"I didn't like St. Petersburg, Fla.," he said. "There were too many old people running around in wheelchairs looking like they had less than a year to go."

But he said he liked nearby Tampa. "For three nights in a row," he said, "I sat on the beach, holding a lantern, hoping to attract a mermaid."

Grange News

PICKAWAY GRANGE YOUTH
Ed and Barbara Crites entertained the Pickaway County Grange Youth at their home Sunday with members of five grangers present. The devotions were based on Psalm 20, read by the host.

The business session was conducted by Brenda Bolender, vice president, and followed the carry-in dinner. During the business session the recent youth conference was discussed and letters from youth chairmen were read.

The youth elected Melissa Archer as Senior Member of the Pickaway County Junior Fair Board representing the grange and Joy Bidwell was elected to the position of Junior Member, to serve a two year term.

The youth presented a special gift to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lands Sr., Pickaway County Grange Deputy Masters, for their untiring work in the youth program and in the county organization.

The next meeting will be at the home of Barbara McKenzie on January 15, beginning at 1 p.m. At this time the plans will be completed for the youth presentation at lecturers' programs.

To close the meeting, the annual gift exchange was held, with a special "Pack Rat" gift presented to Paul Dunkle from Santa Clause.

It is estimated that one in 20 pre-school children has vision problems, according to Corning Glass Works.

Irish Are Full Steam Ahead To Cotton Bowl

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The fifth-ranked Fighting Irish are full steam ahead to a Jan. 2 Cotton Bowl contest, and players were talking about how much tougher they will be with No. 1 Texas than they were with Miami, Fla., Saturday night.

Notre Dame left Miami, 3-8, in the dust with a 48-10 victory sparked by Joe Montana's three touchdown passes. The young Miami squad scored only in the second period on Ken MacMillian's 35-yard pass to Steve Alvers and Chris Dennis' 38-yard field goal.

But it was that brief upset opportunity for Miami that stuck in the mind of junior fullback Jerome Heavens.

"We learned from this game," he said. "I'm not saying we took it lightly, but we kept Miami in the game by making mistakes. That's something we won't do against Texas."

The Irish smothered Miami in the second half with 28 points and held the Hurricanes scoreless.

Montana hit a 23-yard TD pass to Vagas Ferguson in the second period for a 20-10 halftime lead, then added passes of 4 and 5 yards to All-America tight end Ken MacAfee in the second half.

A star was born in Texas A&M's 27-7 drubbing of Houston when freshman quarterback Mike Mosley, entering the game late in the second quarter, posted two TDs in a 79-second span, stunning the Cougars, who led 7-3 when Mosley went in.

Texas A&M, rated 17th, clinched third place in the Southwest Conference and is headed to the Dec. 31 Bluebonnet Bowl against 7-4 Southern Cal.

In other games featuring Top Twenty teams, No. 16 San Diego State beat San Jose State 37-34.

No. 19 Florida State, bound for the Dec. 23 Tangerine Bowl against Texas Tech, bounced Florida 37-9. "We ain't second rate no more," croaked Coach Bobby Bowden, hoarse from whooping in the triumphant dressing room.

Lehigh beat Cal-Davis 39-30 in the Knute Rockne Bowl, and Jacksonville State defeated North Dakota State 31-7 in the Grantland Rice Bowl to set the program for Saturday's Pioneer Bowl for the NCAA Division II title.

Widener grabbed the NCAA Division III championship with a 39-36 victory over Wabash in the Amos Alonzo Stagg Bowl.

South Carolina State beat Winston-Salem 10-7 in the Gold Bowl as Malcolm Montgomery kicked a 24-yard field goal with 7:15 left in the third period.

Quarterback Joe Davis threw four touchdown passes, including a 33-yard toss to wide receiver Rick Garretson with 1:43 left to play as San Diego State edged San Jose State.

Seminole quarterback Jimmy Jordan threw three touchdown passes to wide receiver Roger Overby. Running back Larry Key became Florida State's first 1,000-yard rusher with a 143-yard performance that gave him 1,117 for the season.

Lehigh's Engineers had touchdown passes of 81 and 25 yards by quarterback Mike Reiker, who also scored on a 1-yard sneak to topple Cal-Davis, now 10-1. Jacksonville State triumphed over North Dakota State as Bobby Ray Green passed for 145 yards and two touchdowns.

Quarterback Mark Walter completed 13 of 23 passes for 282 yards and two touchdowns as Widener downed Wabash.

Bjorklund Wins Maryland Marathon

BALTIMORE (AP) — No one was more surprised that Garry Bjorklund set a new course record at the fifth annual Maryland Marathon than Garry Bjorklund. After all, it was only the third marathon he had ever run in.

The 26-year-old Minneapolis runner, a U.S. Olympian at 10,000 meters in 1976, said he got in a comfortable pace and just kept running to blitz past the record field of 1,706 contenders and set a new course record with a time of 2:13:46.4.

"I think I was more surprised than anybody by the record," he said.

In the last mile, he said spectators were yelling to him that he had the record. "My stomach was churning, and I was just kind of surviving, and afraid to look back. If I had to, I could not have held off anybody."

Denver Makes Playoffs For First Time

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Making the National Football League playoffs is old hat for the Dallas Cowboys and Los Angeles Rams, but not for comeback hero Craig Morton and the surprising Denver Broncos.

"It's been a long time for the Denver Broncos, but it's been even longer for Craig Morton," said the 34-year-old quarterback, who threw two touchdown passes to help Denver subdue the Houston Oilers 24-14 Sunday and clinch the American Conference's Western Division title and the Broncos' first playoff berth in their 18-year history.

"It was very satisfying for me," said Morton, who suffered years of frustration as a backup in Dallas and then as a starter on a weak New York Giants club. "This team is really together. I'm very proud of it."

Proud is not the word for Denver's first-year coach, Red Miller.

"I want to talk about the playoffs, I want to talk about the playoffs, I want to talk about the playoffs," Miller screamed in the lockerroom after Sunday's win. "We are in the playoffs and for the first time this season I'm ready to talk about them."

Dallas and Los Angeles are also ready to talk of the playoffs after filling two of the four National Conference spots.

Dallas clinched the Eastern Division title with a 24-14 victory over the Philadelphia Eagles behind Tony Dorsett, who rushed for 206 yards and two touchdowns. Los Angeles assured itself of the NFC West crown with a 20-14 decision over the defending Super Bowl champion Oakland Raiders on a 43-yard scoring pass from Pat Haden to Harold Jackson with 2:10 to play.

That fills three of the eight playoff berths. The Baltimore Colts could make it four with a victory over the Miami Dolphins tonight. That would clinch the AFC East title for the Colts, although the Dolphins would still be in the running for a wild-card berth.

Here's the way the playoff picture looks:

AFC

Denver, 11-1, is in the playoffs as the West winner.

Baltimore, 9-2, can clinch the East title tonight.

Pittsburgh, 8-4, leads the Central by one game over Cincinnati, 7-5. The two teams meet Saturday at Cincinnati.

Oakland, 9-3, is still alive in the wild card race, along with New England, 8-4, and the loser of tonight's game between Baltimore, 9-2, and Miami, 8-3.

NFC

Dallas, 10-2, is in as the East winner.

Minnesota, 8-4, leads Chicago by one game in the Central.

Los Angeles, 9-3, is in as the West champion.

St. Louis, Washington and Chicago, each 7-5, are the frontrunners for the wild card, as well as Minnesota if it fails to win the Central Division. St. Louis is at Washington Saturday in a key game.

In other NFL games Sunday, the Chicago Bears shut out the Tampa Bay Buccaneers 10-0, the Minnesota Vikings rallied to edge the San Francisco 49ers 28-27, the New England Patriots beat the Atlanta Falcons 16-10, the New York Jets upset the St. Louis Cardinals 27-7, the Pittsburgh Steelers defeated the Seattle Seahawks 30-20, the Washington Redskins downed the Buffalo Bills 10-0, the Cincinnati Bengals defeated the Kansas City Chiefs 27-7, the Green Bay Packers trimmed the Detroit Lions 10-9, the San Diego Chargers whipped the Cleveland Browns 37-14 and the New York Jets edged the New Orleans Saints 16-13.

Morton threw 13-yard touchdown passes to Riley Odoms and Rick Upchurch to help the Broncos to a 14-7 halftime lead. He suffered a strained shoulder on the final play of the first half but came back in the fourth quarter to guide the Broncos to their decisive score, his 33-yard pass to Odoms setting up Norris Weese's 5-yard run.

Cowboys 24, Oilers 14

Tony Dorsett, who earlier scored on a 1-yard run, broke loose on an 84-yard scoring jaunt in the fourth quarter as Dallas wrapped up its seventh NFC East title and 11th playoff berth in the last 12 years.

Dorsett, who carried 23 times, is only the third NFL rookie to gain 200 yards in one game, joining Jim Brown and Tom Wilson.

Rams 20, Raiders 14

Haden completed 13 of 22 passes for 166 yards, was not intercepted and was sacked just twice as Los Angeles clinched its fifth straight NFC West title. Oakland's Ken Stabler, by contrast, was 16 for 37 for 194 yards but was intercepted four times and sacked four times.

Bears 10, Bucs 0

In six home games, Tampa Bay has been shut out five times and gotten one field goal in the other contest. The Bucs held Chicago scoreless for three periods, but then Bob Thomas booted a 32-yard field goal and Walter Payton scored on a 3-yard run.

Vikings 28, 49ers 27

Minnesota trailed 24-0 midway through the third period, but rookie quarterback Tommy Kramer came in and threw three touchdown passes in the fourth quarter, including a 69-yard bomb to Sammy White with 1:38 to play, for the victory to remain one game ahead of Chicago.

Patriots 16, Falcons 10

Steve Grogan connected with Stanley Morgan for a 33-yard TD with 4:40 to go for the touchdown that kept the Patriots' playoff hopes alive. That pass capped an 89-yard drive.

Giants 27, Cardinals 7

"They took the ball and stuck it down our throats," said a dejected Coach Don Coryell after his St. Louis Cardinals were upset by the Giants. Cornerback Bill Bryant's 54-yard touchdown with an interception broke open the game in the third period.

Steelers 30, Seahawks 20

Terry Bradshaw ran for two Pittsburgh touchdowns and passed for a third and Franco Harris gained 103 yards to raise his season total to 1,052 and place him 10th on the career list with 6,185.

Redskins 10, Bills 0

Joe Theismann's 12-yard pass to Jean Fugett in the second period provided the only touchdown Washington needed in a game played before nearly 60,000 empty seats. Only 22,975 showed up at 80,000-seat Rich Stadium, the smallest crowd in Buffalo since 1963.

Bengals 27, Chiefs 7

Ken Anderson threw two touchdown passes as Cincinnati handed Kansas City its 10th loss in 12 games, the most losses in the history of the franchise. "Mistakes, turnovers and breakdowns," bemoaned Chiefs Coach Tom Bettis.

Packers 10, Lions 9

Green Bay took a 10-0 halftime lead but needed a goal line stand in the final five minutes to turn back the Lions. Steve Luke, Johnny Gray and Willie Buchanan made the game-saving tackle on Rick Kane, who was stopped cold on a fourth-and-goal try from the 2.

Chargers 37, Browns 14

Dan Fouts completed 14 of 20 passes for 237 yards and three TDs as San Diego whipped Cleveland. "This was a dead and buried football team," said Browns Coach Forrest Gregg. "They didn't seem to care."

Jets 16, Saints 13

Field goals of 42, 29 and 27 yards by Pat Leahy, the latter two in the fourth quarter, helped the Jets past New Orleans. Clark Gaines rushed for 103 yards for New York, while Chuck Muncie gained 107 for the Saints.

Jerry Pate, Hollis Stacy Engineer Winning Birdie

LARGO, Fla. (AP) — A bitterly disappointed Curtis Strange and Nancy Lopez could do nothing but watch in mounting concern and dismay as that first pro golf victory, the one they say is the hardest to achieve, slipped from their grasp.

After trailing all week, by margins ranging up to eight strokes, they finally tied it on the 71st hole, finished with a par and then could only watch as Jerry Pate and U.S. Women's Open champ Hollis Stacy carefully engineered a winning birdie on the final hole.

"They had both balls in the fairway, so I thought they'd birdie," Strange said.

They did. Stacy hit an 8-iron third shot about 10 feet from the flag on the final hole and Pate, who'd had trouble putting all week, broke the tie with a rap into the back of the cup for a birdie 4.

"That's why he's where he is," Stacy said of her partner, who won twice this year despite missing most of the season with an injury. "He makes the putts he has to make."

Pate and Stacy, who had led since a fantastic 61 in the first round on the North course at the Bardmoor Country Club, finished with a 70 and a 270 total. Both collected $20,000 from the total purse of $200,000.

Strange, 22, and Lopez, 20, a pair of rookies who joined their respective tours only in midseason, salvaged their disappointment with $12,944 each. Trailing by three shots going into the final day, they finished with a 68 and a 271 total.

It was the fourth runner-up finish this year for Nancy, who started her pro career with three seconds in a row, and marked the second time Strange had finished in the No. 2 spot. Both have yet to win.

"It's tough," the pretty Nancy said. "I'm tired of being second."

"I really hoped we could pull this off. We haven't reached the top yet. They don't know who we are. All week long I've seen pictures of other players in the paper, but not ours."

She added, "It'd be nice to be known, to hear someone saying, 'Come on, Nancy,' or 'Come on, Curtis.'"

Under the unique format for this tournament, both members of each man-woman team hit off the tee. Each plays the other's ball on the next shot. They then select the one they want and play alternate shots on the same ball for the remainder of the hole.

The Palmers, Arnold and Sandra, combined for a last round 67 that put them in a tie for third at 275 with Andy Bean and Susan O'Connor, who had a closing 68, and Tom Purtzer and Sandra Post, 69.

Lakers Didn't Have Enough Punch

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Even with Kareem Abdul-Jabbar back in the lineup, the Los Angeles Lakers didn't have enough punch.

The National Basketball Association All-Star center scored 21 points and grabbed 14 rebounds Sunday night in his first game since he suffered a broken right hand in a fight with Milwaukee's Kent Benson on opening day Oct. 18.

But despite the presence of the five-time Most Valuable Player, the Lakers dropped a 111-109 decision to the Denver Rockets and plunged lower in the Pacific Division with an 814 record.

"We've got to put a winning streak together or it will be too late to make the playoffs," said Lakers Coach Jerry West.

Jabbar's return was offset by fine performances from Denver's David Thompson and Dan Issel. They scored 27 and 23 points respectively and Thompson assisted on Jimmy Price's game-winning basket with three seconds left.

In the other NBA games, the Washington Bullets whipped the Cleveland Cavaliers 100-94; the Milwaukee Bucks ripped the New Jersey Nets 134-118 in overtime and the Atlanta Hawks turned back the Phoenix Suns 96-89.

Before Price hit his winning shot from the top of the key, the Lakers had tied the game 12 seconds earlier on a jumper by Norm Nixon. Denver called a timeout, then played for a last shot.

Of his return to action, Jabbar said: "It's hard to say what kind of shape I'm in. It's been so long since I've played. I've only had two practice sessions prior to tonight. But I really wasn't as tired as I thought I would be at the end of the game."

Bullets 100, Indians 94

Phil Chenier and Kevin Grevey combined for 53 points at one guard position to carry Washington over Cleveland. The victory, the Bullets' ninth in their last 10 games, moved them past the Cavaliers into first place in the Central Division.

Bucks 134, Nets 118

Brian Winters scored six of his 36 points and Quinn Buckner seven of his 21 in overtime as Milwaukee surged past New Jersey. After a 116-116 tie in regulation time, a Winters jump shot, Buckner's free throw and another Winters long jumper gave the Bucks a quick five-point lead and started them on their way.

Hawks 96, Suns 89

Charles Criss scored a career-high 30 points as Atlanta came from behind in the last quarter to defeat Phoenix. Criss, who had been hospitalized a few days ago with stomach trouble, scored 20 points in the final period to tie a Phoenix Coliseum record.

Bengals Still Have Shot At Playoff

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — The winners, the Cincinnati Bengals, danced into their locker room in eager anticipation of next week's challenge and a possible spot in the playoffs.

The losers, the Kansas City Chiefs, hung their heads in the thought that never in the history of the franchise had their team done this poorly.

Taking advantage of Kansas City mistakes and turnovers, the Bengals stamped out a 27-7 National Football League victory over the Chiefs Sunday, setting up a showdown with Pittsburgh in Cincinnati next week.

Elevating their record to 7-5, the Bengals remained one game behind the Steelers, who lead the AFC's Central Division.

"After the way we got started this year, nobody expected us to come back and contend like we are right now," said quarterback Ken Anderson, who threw two touchdown passes. "The pressure will be on Pittsburgh."

In the first quarter Anderson hit Billy Brooks with a 15-yard touchdown pass, climaxing a drive that began with a Chiefs' fumble.

After the Chiefs knotted the score on Mark Bailey's 47-yard run with a screen pass, Chris Bahr put the Bengals back on top with a 35-yard second quarter field goal.

With a minute left in the first half, Tony Davis fielded a line-drive punt on the Cincinnati 16 and raced 70 yards before being pushed out of bounds. The next play, Anderson connected with punter-wide receiver Pat McNally with 7 seconds left to give the Bengals a 17-7 margin.

The Bengals scored only three points, on Bahr's 20-yard field goal, in the third quarter but dominated the Chiefs totally, keeping the ball 13:25 of the 15-minute period.

Ricky Wesson, without being touched, dropped the ball on the kickoff following Bahr's field goal and the Bengals recovered at the Kansas City 12. On the first play of the fourth period Pete Johnson slammed over for the touchdown.

The Chiefs are now doomed to the worst finish in their history. Their poorest record previously was 5-9, but now they are 2-10 with two games remaining.

The sloppy, mistake-filled game may also have jeopardized the head coaching future of Tom Bettis, who took over for the ousted Paul Wiggin at mid-season.

"It's no mystery," Bettis said. "Turnovers, breakdowns and mistakes have been hurting us all year. It's that simple. It's that disheartening. When turnovers start like that, psychologically it has an effect on you. It has to have some effect on you."

Adding to the Chiefs' misery was the foggy, dreary weather and nearly total desertion of their fans. The announced attendance was 38,488 but by game's end only about 3,000 or 4,000 remained in huge Arrowhead Stadium, which was built to hold 78,000.

McNally, who also punted four times for nearly a 49-yard average, admitted the Bengals had difficulty not looking ahead this week to the Steelers.

"But that's all we've got on our minds now," he said. "It's just a matter of us approaching the game like any other and not falling into their trap — they call it intimidation."

Patience Is Key To Holy Cross Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
For a reluctant shooter, Ronnie Perry certainly made up for lost time. For more than eight minutes, the Holy Cross player didn't take a shot against Duquesne. Then he didn't stop — and the result was a 30-point performance and an 86-76 victory for the nation's No. 17 team Sunday.

"Ronnie Perry's patience in the first half and our total team play was great," said Holy Cross Coach George Blaney. "We preach this patience all the time and we're really very fortunate to have so many unselfish players ... we won because we were unselfish."

"Patience" was obviously a Holy Cross synonym for poise. The Crusaders managed to make just 13 of 39 shots in the first half and fell behind 47-39 at intermission, but didn't buckle.

Perry's consistent point-making complemented a forceful defensive game by the Crusaders in the second half.

In Saturday's top games, second-ranked North Carolina won the Big Four Tournament at Greensboro, N.C., by beating North Carolina State 87-82; No. 3 Notre Dame beat Valparaiso 89-75; No. 4 Marquette defeated Western Michigan 59-47; Arizona State upset No. 5 San Francisco 89-79 in the finals of the Sun Devil Classic in Tempe, Ariz.; No. 6 UCLA defeated Santa Clara 88-79; No. 8 Cincinnati stopped Biscayne 77-62; No. 9 Louisville whipped Vanderbilt 96-66 and 10th-ranked Nevada-Las Vegas trimmed Bradley 91-90.

Purdue, the nation's No. 11 team, walloped No. 15 Alabama 82-65; 12th-ranked Syracuse won its own Carrier Classic with a 75-67 decision over Michigan State; No. 13 Michigan beat Fordham 77-62; No. 16 St. John's edged Princeton 43-40 and No. 18 Wake Forest lost to Duke 97-84 in a consolation game of the Big Four tournament.

Phil Ford scored 30 points to lead North Carolina over North Carolina State. Earlier, Duke beat Wake Forest as Mike Gminski scored 20.

Don Williams scored six of his game-high 20 points as Notre Dame jumped to an 11-0 lead and went on to defeat Valparaiso. It took five minutes before Tom Kizer scored for the Crusaders, and the early surge helped give the Irish a runaway 19-4 lead en route to their third straight victory.

Butch Lee's 18 points led Marquette over Western Michigan. The Warriors were hardpressed by their stubborn opponents until putting them away with a late flurry.

Roy Joshua's second-half sharpshooting led Arizona State past San Francisco. Joshua scored eight points during an 11-minute stretch of the second half, when the Sun Devils broke the game open, and finished the night with a team-high 22 points.

UCLA whipped Santa Clara behind David Greenwood's 23 points. The junior forward hit 11 of 16 shots from the field as he led the Bruins to their fourth triumph of the season without a defeat.

Pat Cummings had 20 points and Bob Miller led a second-half rally with 11 to power Cincinnati over Biscayne. The Bearcats' victory extended the nation's longest home-court winning streak to 63.

Rick Wilson scored 26 points and Darrell Griffith added 24 as Louisville beat Vanderbilt. Reggie Theus' 28 points led Nevada-Las Vegas over Bradley.

Tampa Bay's Winless Skein Is 26

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — The lady behind the wheel of the courtesy car expressed a dilemma that reflected this area's utter resignation over the plight of the winless Tampa Bay Buccaneers.

"We have these two season tickets for Sunday's game," she said, "but I have volunteered to chauffeur for the golfers playing in the Mixed Team Tournament over at Largo.

"My husband and I would like to give the tickets to someone but don't know how to go about it. We would hate to offend any friends."

It was the same night that Johnny Carson opened his "Tonight" show from Los Angeles with one of his recurring cracks at the National Football League team that now has lost 26 games in a row in its two years of existence.

Johnny's turbaned mystic, Carnac, conjured up the question for a revealed answer:

Q. What two disasters were accompanied by band music?

A. The Titanic and the Buccaneers.

These are only a fraction of the cascading indignities that have to be endured by John McKay, the "Gray Fox" from the University of Southern California who compiled one of the gaudiest coaching records in the history of collegiate football.

The Buccaneers lost another one Sunday to Walter Payton and the Chicago Bears, 10-0, leaving Tampa Bay with three points in six home games this season. What else is new?

For McKay, it meant just another round of jokes and insults from a hard core of detractors. McKay lit up one of his longest Cuban cigars, propped his feet on the desk and kept a stiff upper lip.

He wasn't about to blow his brains out.

"My reputation is taking a hell of a beating," he acknowledged. "We have had a lot of tough luck, building from scratch is a long, hard haul. But don't worry. We'll make it. It's a slow building process."

Trouble is, some of the more avid fans in this football hotbed are losing patience.

They have hauled out bumper stickers that say, "Dump McKay in Tampa Bay," a merchant came out with a line of sweat shirts with the imprint, "Go For 0." It displays a sinking Pirate ship.

An anonymous ad was placed in the "Hot Line" section of an area newspaper: "Wanted — Coach and Football Team, Personnel with California Experience Not Wanted.

Apply No. 1, Bucs Place."

A St. Petersburg paper conducted a reader poll, soliciting suggestions. Many defended McKay and his franchise. Others urged: "Fire McKay," "Waive Antony Davis, bench Ricky Bell." The three players voted least effective were the McKay proteges from USC — Davis, Bell and son, Johnny McKay.

Lately fans have grown bolder and uglier. One recently stood up at a game and bellowed, "Hey, McKay, maybe Nixon's got a place for you at San Clemente." As the coach and his son walked toward the dressing room, a cup of ice was dumped on their heads.

"Our loyal supporters have been wonderful," McKay said. "Our crowds continue to number 40,000 and 50,000. We get stacks of mail expressing faith in us. Our critics are more demonstrative."

It's been a painful journey for the snow-haired, 54-year-old coach who compiled a 127-40 record at USC, won four national titles, played in nine bowl games and coached such Heisman Trophy stars as Mike Garrett and O.J. Simpson.

The Bucs are a snake-bit team — tough as any in the league on defense, unlucky on offense with a succession of quarterback injuries and mistakes in critical situations that have been almost mystical.

"Buzards' luck," one pundit commented. "Can't find anything dead and can't kill."

Is John McKay harboring regrets? "No sir, not at all," he said, blowing a smoke ring toward the ceiling. "If a college coach asked me about going into the pros, I would discourage him. He runs into a lot of jealousy.

"But me? I had done all I could in college ball. Maybe I was crazy to take an expansion team — didn't ask for the job. Now that I've got it, I am going to see it through."

COMANECI BALANCE — Nadia Comaneci, Romanian Olympic gymnast, balances on beam in Chicago show.

The opening bout in the current Madison Square Garden in New York on March 4, 1968, saw middleweight Dennis Heffernan score a three-round knockout over Tony Smith.

An allowance race in horse-racing is one in which the weights to be carried are determined by the amount of money or number of races each has won.

Ray Narleski of the Detroit Tigers was touched for four grand slams during the 1969 season.

TWO OF 'EM — On the first day of deer season, these three bagged two bucks in Athens County. The largest, weighing close to 200 lbs, is a non-typical 10-point buck. Hunters are, from the left, Paul Spangler of Ashville, Albert Binkley of Laurelville and Terry Spangler of Ashville. Terry said this is the fifth year straight that he has shot one on the first day.

GTE Trains 4 Employees

Four Circleville area employees of General Telephone Co. of Ohio have completed a course at the company's technical training school in Marion.

Jerrilea A. Taylor, 199 Sunset Drive, and Sarah D. Weaver, Stoutsville, completed a course covering all phases of billing procedures, including customer bill inquiries.

Julie A. Miller, 427 Imperial Court, has completed a course covering business office procedures including voice training, basic phone service and equipment. An operator in the company's Circleville District, she has been with General for three months.

Charles D. Morrison, Ashville, has completed a course at the company's technical training school on methods for assigning telephone numbers and equipment. A service representative in the Circleville District, Morrison has been with General for 3 1/2 months.

The technical training school offers more than 90 courses and seminars. Classroom training helps employees develop job skills and stay abreast of technological advancement.

Bolender is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David H. Bolender, 23647 Ringgold Southern Road, Circleville.

Derflinger is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Derflinger, 14794 Plazier Road, Ashville.

Bloodmobile Collects 67 Units At RCA

The RCA Company hosted a special visit of the Red Cross Bloodmobile on Friday at their plant. All donors were plant employees. 105 people registered to give blood and 67 units were collected.

The Board of Directors of the American Red Cross and the Pickaway County Community are extremely gratified to RCA for this effort to help meet the goal during this crucial period when the supply at the Columbus Regional Blood Center is extremely low.

Local nurses who assisted at the operation were Mary Walters and Gladys Robinson.

Red Cross volunteers on duty were: Pat Clark, Josephine Dille, Margaret Dean, Millie Conrad and Wanita Will.

Next scheduled visit of the Bloodmobile to Circleville will be Tuesday, December 27 at Community United Methodist Church.

Missionary Work Done By Former Resident

LYNDA KAY FOSNAUGH

Miss Lynda Kay Fosnaugh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Fosnaugh, 233 Monticello St. continues with her medical missionary work in Papua, New Guinea.

She has already spent six months of her one-year term in the field. She will spend this Christmas in a land half way around the world with people she has grown to love.

Miss Fosnaugh and a registered nurse try to supply the medical needs of the native people through the hospital at Kar Station. They also hold various clinics in the villages. Her work is through the Ohio Street Church of Christ and Christian Union.

She has been accepted at the Marion College School of Nursing and will begin classes in September, 1978.

Her present air mail address is C.U.M. Box 70, Mendi S. H. P., Papua, New Guinea.

British Troops Mobilized To Control Bermuda Rioting

HAMILTON, Bermuda (AP) — British troops armed with rifles and machine guns deployed in Bermuda today for the first time in nearly 10 years, but rioting to protest the execution of two blacks for political murders already had ended.

British commanders said 260 troops had been brought in from bases in Belize, in Central America, and England to back up the 900 men of the local police force and the Bermuda Regiment.

The British island colony was calm all day Sunday, and only three fire bombs exploded Sunday night, in a truck and a vacant house in Hamilton and at a reform school 12 miles outside the city. No casualties were reported.

"I think the steam has gone out of it," said Police Inspector Allan Lister.

A dusk-to-dawn curfew remained in effect.

Black youths rioted and hurled fire bombs Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights to protest the hanging Friday of two black terrorists convicted of murdering the British governor and his aide, the British police chief and two white supermarket owners in 1972-73. It was Bermuda's first executions in 31 years.

The rioters were estimated to have done $5 million worth of damage, but no serious injuries have been reported. Three persons, including two Americans, died in a fire at the Southampton Princess Hotel Thursday night during the first riot; but the rioting and the hotel were seven miles apart, and officials said they had been unable to determine yet whether there was any connection.

Lois Brown Evans, leader of the predominantly black opposition Labor party, charged at a news conference that Prime Minister David Gibbons and Governor Sir Peter Ramsbotham over-reacted by calling in the British troops and that their presence would create more tension.

There also was resentment among some black soldiers of the Bermuda Regiment.

Hamilton's downtown streets were virtually deserted Sunday although some tourists were out with cameras and tennis rackets. Many of the 3,000 tourists were cutting their holidays short because of the inconvenience of being confined to their hotels at dusk. Many restaurants and shops were closing hours before the curfew.

The government still refused to identify the two Americans killed in the hotel fire. But Peter Baur of Philadelphia, Pa., said officials had notified his family that one of them was his granduncle, George B. Gandy, 61, of Ambler, Pa., and the other was believed to be his grandmother, Dorothy Jean Joyce, 71.

OU-L Offers Political Science, Library Courses

What are boys and girls, ages 13 to 18, reading today? What is available for them and the thousands of books published today, how does one go about developing a good collection of books to meet both their educational and recreational needs and interests?

This course and Women in Politics will be offered winter quarter at the Lancaster Branch of Ohio University.

Books and Media for High School Students (LSC 302) will be of wide interest to all librarians and teachers, present and future. Parents, too, will find it interesting and beneficial. The course aims to help teachers and librarians develop good methods for selection of books and audio-visual materials to serve the curricular and leisure needs of the student and faculty.

The course will begin on Jan. 4 from 7:15 to 10:35 p.m. It is a required four credit hour course for librarians and educational media specialists and strongly recommended for teachers and parents.

A new course, Women and Politics (Political Science 420) will be offered at the branch campus during the winter quarter 1978.

This course will examine the arguments used to support and maintain discrimination on the basis of sex, identify the present position of women and analyze the kinds of changes presently underway. Parallels between racism and sexism, development of the feminist movement, current issues affecting women's position and alternatives for the future will be explored. Dr. Patricia Richard, assistant professor of political science at the Athens Campus, will instruct this course on Monday evenings, 7:15 to 10:55 p.m. beginning Feb. 9.

Registration for these courses and other winter courses will be Dec. 13 from 1:30 to 7:30 p.m. For further information, phone the local campus at 654-6711.
